BRIBE ATTEMPTS REPORTED AT INQUIRY

Modern Furniture Factory Will be Established Here

Vancouver Man Takes Over Hiker Plant Through Negotiations Conducted By E. G. Rowebottom of Department of Industries; Will Remodel Plant and Install Latest Machinery

Forty Men Will Be Given Employment

A furniture factory, which may eventually give employment to forty or fifty Victoria men, will be established early in the new year in the old Hiker Products Plant, 878 Viewfield Road, Esquimalt, as the result of negotiations concluded today by E. G. Rowebottom, Deputy Minister of Industries for B.C.

The Hiker plant, Mr. Rowebottom announced, has been purchased by Walter A. Stenner, 1106 Maple Street, Vancouver, and will be remodeled into a modern furniture factory.

The Department of Industries was interested in the deal because of loans made to the Hiker people. The department will recover in full through the new purchase, Mr. Rowbottom said.

The purchase price was not announced, but it was a cash deal, he said.

START IN NEW YEAR

It is anticipated manufacturing of furniture will commence early in the new year.

Mr. Stenner, the new owner, has been trained from boyhood in furniture making, Mr. Rowebottom stated. From technical training he took special university courses, and has made a special study of woods of all kinds, enamels, glues, metal fittings and designing of furniture. After leaving university he went to logging camps for a practical study of woods.

He has been a designer and pattern maker for a large Vancouver furniture firm for the last six years.

The latest modern machinery has been ordered for installation in the plant as soon as alterations and additions are completed.

The new firm will be known as the W. A. Stenner Furniture Manufacturing Company, and will supply direct to retail stores only. He will endeavor to compete for the local furniture market against imported products which now constitute the entire furniture sales in Victoria and on the island.

Mr. Stenner decided to come to Victoria through the initiative of Mr. Rowebottom. He had previously made enquiries about factory sites in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, and on learning of this Mr. Rowebottom immediately got in touch with him and put up the proposal for taking over the Hiker plant. These negotiations were concluded successfully with today's announcement.

Mr. Rowebottom believes the company will add materially to the industrial life of Victoria and the province in general.

SEATTLE P.-I. OPEN MONDAY

Associated Press

Seattle, Nov. 26.—The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, closed for three and a half months by a newsroom strike, pressed forward with preparations today for resuming publication, after effecting a settlement last night with the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild.

The silenced plant hummed with activity and for the first time since picket lines were thrown about the plant last August 13 workmen went in and out at will.

Resumption of publication by the Hearst-owned newspaper was set for Monday morning's editions.

Twenty-seven strikers and the employees who refused to walk out in protest against the dismissals of Frank M. (Slim) Lynch, photographer, and Phillip Everdart Armstrong, dramatic critic, made ready to return to work Sunday.

TAKEN OFF LIST

Charles B. Lindeman, associate publisher of The Post-Intelligencer, and H. Richard Seller, president of the Seattle Guild chapter and a striker himself, had scarcely affixed their signatures to the agreement before the Seattle Central Labor Council took the plant off the "unfair list."

The Guild did not receive recognition as a collective bargaining agency.

Metz, France, Nov. 26.—Three persons were killed here today and seven injured when a gas-producing plant blew up. Chief Engineer Henry was gravely hurt.

Checking Up On Qualifications

School Trustee Bishop May Retire If Solicitor Advises; Interest Is Keen

Charles R. Bishop today is having his solicitor check up on his status as a member of the Victoria School Board. On the advice he receives he will decide whether or not he will complete the second year of his present term.

"I'll most certainly resign if the legal opinion I'm expecting today is to the effect that I am subject to disqualification under the technical clauses of the Municipal Act," the trustee said.

His firm at present shares some of the city's fire insurance under the new blanket coverage system.

CAUSES CHECK-UP

Question over qualification details had sitting aldermen and school trustees checking up on their status today and also caused prospective candidates to look before they leap.

An inquiry instituted among aldermen failed to bring out any information to suggest disqualification possibilities of members of the council who have not yet announced their intention of leaving public life.

On the school board, business men other than Trustee Bishop, expressed the opinion they were clear of any possible charges that might arise from the controversial clauses in the act.

W. Lloyd Morgan, fuel merchant, in reply to a question, stated any small contract he might have with the city would terminate at the end of this year and his qualifications would not be tested under that heading if he were elected to the council.

VANCOUVER IS YET FOGBOUND

Sea and Land Traffic Delayed Under Dense Pall; Ships Anchor in English Bay

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—A heavy curtain of fog which last night settled over Vancouver and surrounding lowlying districts today continued practically to paralyze both water and land traffic.

Several deepsea ships were reported waiting in English Bay for the fog to lift before coming through the First Narrows into the harbor, while others had completed loading and were waiting to depart.

West Vancouver and North Vancouver ferries were delayed in their schedules, with the former switching to an hourly service after the morning rush hours. The usual service is half-hourly.

The only accident reported on Burrard Inlet occurred yesterday when the Ss. Prince John of the Canadian National Steamships collided with a North Vancouver ferry. Minor damages were suffered by both vessels, which were proceeding slowly at the time of the accident.

STREET CAR LATE

In Vancouver street car schedules were disrupted, with cars running from ten minutes to half an hour behind time. Many automobile owners left their machines at home and others parked their cars rather run the risk of crumpled fenders.

Leslie Smith suffered head injuries and a possible fracture of one leg when a motorcycle on which he was riding collided with an automobile. Hospital attaches reported his condition good.

VANCOUVER THUGS AIDED BY FOG

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 26. — Window-smashing thieves raided three Vancouver stores early today and made their escape in dense fog that covered the business area.

Also working under cover of a heavy fog, two armed men held up G. W. Anderson, dairy wagon driver, and robbed him of $19. Anderson told police the men suddenly leaped on his wagon, one from each side, and pointed revolvers at him. While one of them kept him covered, the other took the money from his money pouch. They then disappeared again in the fog.

Spain Insurgent Warship Fires on Soviet Vessel

Shells Directed at Russian Merchantman Voyaging Eastward Through Strait of Gibraltar

Jerez de la Frontera, Spain, Nov. 26.—An insurgent warship fired on a Soviet steamer in the Strait of Gibraltar, the insurgent radio station announced here today.

Canadian Press from Havas

London, Nov. 26.—Reports that a Spanish Fascist sloop opened fire on a Soviet steamship in the Strait of Gibraltar were current here today.

A Reuter's News Agency dispatch from Gibraltar said the Soviet ship, whose name was not known, was passing through the strait bound east and was about five miles off Europe Point when the Fascist craft opened fire.

MADRID BATTLE

Associated Press

Madrid, Nov. 26.—Socialist commanders rushed reinforcements to University City today to repel what was described as a "fierce insurgent counter-attack."

Every available man in two international brigades was ordered to the trenches in the northwestern suburb.

General Klaeber, acting under orders from the Emergency Defence Council, strengthened the Socialist forces with volunteers from the 11th International Volunteers.

The 12th Brigade, under Gen. Paul Lukacs, a Hungarian, was hurled intact against Fascist troops, attempting to drive into the city's streets.

RAID BY PLANES

The fresh insurgent assault came shortly after four Fascist planes had strafed the Socialist lines and bombed the model prison.

The government lines covered the southern part of the University Campus, stretched westward toward the model prison and zigzagged across the Praque del Ceste (West Park) to the neighborhood of the "French-

GERMAN PROTEST

Associated Press

Berlin, Nov. 26.—Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath yesterday instructed the German minister to Norway to express the Reich's "utter astonishment" at the award of the 1935 Nobel Peace Prize by a committee of the Norwegian parliament to Karl von Ossietzky, German pacifist.

Spokesmen pointed out that although the Norwegian government was not directly concerned in the selection, the decision of the Storting (Chamber of Deputies) constituted knowingly insulting provocation of Germany.

The German envoy was instructed to say Germany "reserves to itself all ultimate conclusions to be drawn from this incident."

Britain Aloof From Germany's Crusade

But Study of New Reich-Japan Pact Against Communism Causes Uneasiness Because of Growing Tension

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 26.—Great Britain will remain aloof from Germany's anti-Communist crusade.

With a characteristic snap of his fingers, Prime Minister Baldwin recently dismissed Fascism and Communism alike as political extremes with which Britain has no sympathy.

Closer examination of the Berlin-Tokio anti-Communist pact increases the disquiet felt when word first arrived of the signing. The pact is widely disapproved on the double ground that it aggravates world tension and attempts to line up the world in Communist and anti-Communist blocs.

There is also the feeling that, despite the Berlin denials of secret clauses, there lie behind the pact provisions for a military alliance between Germany and Japan.

ECONOMIC SPHERES

"There are rumors, probably not without substance," The London Times observed, "that the agreement provides for the establishment of German and Japanese economic spheres, economic — ultimately political — influence in the Dutch East Indies; a development which would certainly react on our position in Hongkong and Singapore. Whether that development is really in prospect or not, Japanese penetration southward in China is likely to be considerably accelerated by the pact, which greatly lessens her apprehensions with regard to the Manchurian frontiers.

UNPALATABLE FRUIT

"Nearer home there is reason for fear that Germany's persistent and inexcusable campaign against the alleged 'Bolshevizing' of Czechoslavakia may bear unpalatable fruit. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good, but it is not easy yet to select the bene-

Vancouver Orientals Found Police Not Having Pay-off, Investigator Told

Macdonald Commission Is Informed by Detective W. J. McFarlane of Two Attempts of Chinese to Buy Immunity for Gambling Houses Which Proved Police Were Doing Duty; Club Officers Tell of Operations of Their Organizations

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—Detective W. J. McFarlane today told the Macdonald commission inquiring into the report of W. A. Tucker, discharged police accountant, that he had been approached by two Chinese who wished to buy police immunity for gaming houses by bribes.

One Oriental had offered him $50 per week to allow a gaming house to operate, and suggested the house be raided periodically and that a keeper, who would plead guilty, would be arrested, the witness told the commission.

Last autumn another Chinese had offered Detective Morrison and himself $500 to permit three houses to run. When they refused, the Chinese said they were fools to work on small wages when they could "make more money by being smart." Detective McFarlane testified.

NO PAY-OFF SYSTEM

"Do you know of any pay-off system in Vancouver?" asked R. L. Maitland, K.C., commission council.

"No, none at all," said the witness.

The detective said a pay-off system was impossible under the present system of police operation because gambling supervision in the department was not under supervision of any small group of detectives.

MEMBERS TOTAL

Robert Mercer, licensed manager of Brunswick Sports Cub, was questioned on methods of conducting card play and other activities of his organization as the commission continued investigation of Dominion, provincial and municipal club licensing provisions.

Mercer said membership in the club was about 13,000, and that thirty-two card tables and tables for checkers and dominoes were operated.

"You have an annual meeting of members?" Mr. Maitland asked.

"A notice is posted," said the witness.

"There is no personal notification to each of the 10,000 members?"

"Not that I know of."

PAY FOR SEATS

The witness explained each player paid for a seat at the card tables.

"How often is collection made?"

"Every time a winner is declared."

"How high does your tariff go?"

"Up to 5 cents," the witness said.

Thomas B. Jones, secretary of the Brunswick Sports Club and assistant secretary of the National Sports Club, said officers of the Brunswick Club were appointed to office for ten years.

When pressed by Mr. Maitland to tell how much jurisdiction club members had over the situation, Mr. Jones said notices of the annual meetings were posted in club quarters and that officers could be removed by "an extraordinary resolution."

REVENUE REPORT

Gross revenue of the Brunswick Club for July this year was $15,554.25, Jones told the commission.

Commissioner W. A. Macdonald asked if the witness contended he was carrying on a legitimate sports and social club, notwithstanding that a charge was made for use of tables and cards.

"That is supported by the Supreme Court decision in the case of Rex vs. Brampton," Mr. Jones said.

(The Brampton case was appealed after a conviction on gambling charges had been obtained at Vancouver. The Supreme Court reversed the decision.)

R. DUNN, JR., PASSES AWAY

Deputy Minister of Mines Succumbed Today After Long Illness

After a long illness, Robert Dunn Jr., Deputy Minister of Mines, passed away early this morning in St. Joseph's Hospital, in his fifty-third year.

Born in Toronto on March 20, 1884, Mr. Dunn came with his parents to Victoria in 1892 and had resided here ever since. He was educated at the public and high schools, and took up journalism as a career, being with the editorial staff of The Times and later with The Daily Colonist as sports editor.

After leaving the newspaper field, he was for a time in the real estate business. In 1916 he was appointed private secretary to the late Hon. Wm. Sloan, Minister of Mines.

Following the retirement of the late Rod Tolmie as Deputy Minister of Mines in 1924, Mr. Dunn was appointed to the post on January 1, 1925. He served in that capacity up to the time of his death.

Owing to ill-health he was given six months' leave of absence last summer, but his condition grew worse and he entered St. Joseph's Hospital at the beginning of October for treatment.

Mr. Dunn is survived by his widow and two sons, at the family residence, 3329 Quadra Street; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunn, 437 Stannard Avenue; four sisters, Mrs. Gus Sivertz and Mrs. Douglas Stratton in Vancouver, Mrs. Robert Clewen and Miss Olive Dunn in Victoria, and one brother, Alan Dunn, in California.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, after which the remains will be forwarded to Vancouver for cremation.

PARIS WEEKLY'S TRUCK SEIZED

Associated Press

Paris, Nov. 26.—A truck loaded with copies of the rightist weekly Gringoire was seized on a Paris street early today by five men, armed with pistols, who attempted to run it into the Seine.

The men halted the truck, forced the woman driver and two other occupants to dismount, and made off with the truck, which was later found, abandoned, tottering on the river bank.

The Gringoire, led the attacks on Minister of Interior Roger Salengro, which, leftists charge, led to his suicide.

MORNING FIRE LOSS $1,500

A Packard sedan, twelve typewriters, cheque writers and adding machines were ruined this morning by fire which broke out about 8.30 o'clock on the Drummond-Hay property at 141 Gorge Road. The loss was estimated at more than $1,500.

The car and the machines were the property of Victor Wheatley, who parked it in a disused barn, used as a garage, yesterday evening.

Response of the city fire department under Deputy Chief Joseph Raymond prevented much damage to the building but the crews were unable to save the typewriters, which were in the back of the car. The fire started in the car but its definite origin was uncertain, fire department officials said.

Aberhart Urged To End Scrip Plan

Chambers of Commerce of Alberta's Four Largest Cities Say Prosperity Certificates Have Proved Failure

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Edmonton, Nov. 26.—The Aberhart government was requested today to end its venture in stamped scrip. The chambers of commerce of Edmonton and Medicne Hat and the boards of trade of Calgary and Lethbridge addressed a letter to Premier Aberhart claiming the experiment was a failure and should be scrapped.

Scrip was issued first in August, when $236,000 was paid to road workers, but the total in circulation has been dropped consistently. Two weeks ago, at the regular November redemption period, only $30,000 was still in circulation, although $15,000 had been issued a few days earlier to the Alberta civc servants.

In part, the letter to the Premier reads as follows:

"Prosperity certificates have failed entirely of their avowed purpose, as indicated by their name. They would not circulate on their own merits. They could not be kept in circulation even after strenuous efforts to organize for them. The failure in this respect has been great and has been admitted by members of the government on the public platform.

"Having failed elsewhere, the government is now turning to the classes in the community least able to resist its wishes—civil servants and the recipents of relief.

"The acceptance by a civil servant of a portion of his salary in Prosperity Certificates (or the purchase of such a portion immediately on receipt of his salary) is to be 'voluntary.' One does not need to be a civil ser-

SAYS INCREASE IN DEBT RAPID

J. W. Jones Claims B.C. Credit Not Highest in West Now

Claiming the public debt of British Columbia had risen at the rate of $10,000,000 a year under the present Liberal government, J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance in the Tolmie government, last night disputed the statement of Hon. John Hart, present Finance Minister, that British Columbia credit was now the highest of all western provinces where it had been the lowest when the government took office.

Speaking at a Ward Five Conservative meeting, Mr. Jones said that B.C. 6 per cent bonds of 1947 which sold in 1933 at 103 could now be bought at less than par. The last Tolmie government loan of $3,000,000 fetched a better price than Alberta issues, but the present administration could not even float a loan on the open market, he said.

In three years of Liberal power, Mr. Jones claimed, the gross public debt had increased from $166,000,000 to $197,400,000, with a $10,000,000 shortage in the sinking funds. Borrowings from the Dominion had risen from $4,000,000 to $30,000,000.

B.C., he said, must have an economical government and a reduction in taxation before more industries would develop. The Conservative party offered such leadership.

Mr. Jones warned against the acceptance of social credit theories. Capital was flowing out of Alberta, building had stopped and that province's bonds were quoted in the sixties with no takers, he declared.

The former Finance Minister predicted a provincial election in May or June.

Robert D. Harvey, president of Victoria Conservative Association, spoke briefly. Both speakers were thanked by Hubert Lethaby, Ward Five president.

Benjamin Franklin experimented with electric cooking.

MASONIC CHOIR AT FAIRFIELD

Male Voice Group Well Received in Programme at Church

The twenty-six voice Masonic male voice choir, under the direction of Cyril C. Warren, was given an enthusiastic reception by an audience of 250 persons at a concert yesterday evening in Fairfield United Church.

The concert was given in aid of the church Sunday School and two assisting artists were heard with the choir.

The well-selected programme provided an opportunity to bring out the finer points in choral work, while particular enthusiasm marked the appearance of the solo artists.

The following programme was presented by the choir: "My Eyes For Beauty Pining," "Keep On Hoping," "Requiem," "The Jolly Roger" (Robertson, arr. Deif), "The Jolly Beggar" (Gibbs), "Lullaby" (Brahms), and "Goin' Home" (Dvorak).

The guest artists were J. C. Sparks, elocutionist, and Jack Filtness, banjoist. Mr. Sparks gave Robert Service's "Ballad of Hard Luck Henry," and the "Old and New Version of 'The House That Jack Built.'" Mr. Filtness played Mandell's "Take Your Pick" and "Overture Medley" (arr. by Grimshaw) in which was introduced the storm scene from "William Tell," in his first group and his second group included an arrangement of Negro melodies and Liszt's "Liebestraum."

Solo selections were presented by four members of the choir. Fred Glendenning, tenor, sang Hume's "Invictus" and "Without a Song" (Youman), followed by the popular selection "When I'm With You" as an encore.

A. W. Palmer, bass, rendered "A Poor Man's Garden" and "Fat Little Fellow" (Gordon). The numbers by A. W. Trevett, baritone, were "The Windmill" (Nelson), and "You'd Better Ask Me" (Lohr). Two old favorites, "Why Should I" (Russell) and "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" were sung by A. J. E. Bishop.

J. W. Buckler and J. Maurice Thomas blended their voices in the duet, "Flow Gently, Deva" (Parry), followed by the humorous duet, "Tenor and Baritone."

George H. Parker was the able accompanist for the programme, and the thanks of the Sunday school for the generous assistance were tendered by L. Abbott, superintendent.

CLAIMS BUDGET WELL RECEIVED

Feature of Session, C. J. McDowell Tells Ward Four Liberals

The budget speech of Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, was the outstanding feature of the B.C. Legislature's session just concluded, C. J. McDowell declared in an address to Ward Four Liberal Association last night at Liberal headquarters.

The budget, said Mr. McDowell, had been favorably received on all sides.

With its rising revenues, current surplus position and provision for improved public services, it was an evidence, he said, of restoration to stable financial conditions within the province.

He stressed the fact that all this had been accomplished without increasing taxation.

Mr. McDowell referred also to the recent visit of Hon. Norman Rogers, federal Minister of Labor, to Victoria. On his return to the east, Mr. Rogers had said he was astounded with the up-swing of business conditions in British Columbia.

The speaker noted the plans worked out with Mr. Rogers to meet unemployment.

The annual election of officers of Ward Four will be held Wednesday, December 9, it was announced.

Ward Four Liberals are notified that the annual general meeting and election of officers will be held at Liberal Headquarters, December 3 at 8 p.m. Admission will be by 1936 membership card. Nominations for 1937 officers must be in the hands of the secretary by December 1.

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein

Representative Sol. Bloom, director-general of the Constitution Sesquicentennial Commission, has recommended the issuance of a series of twenty-six stamps and six stamped envelopes in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution. This number may be reduced, but it is fairly certain that such stamps will be issued.

Orders for the forthcoming set of stamps to be issued on the anniversary of the Philippine Commonwealth will not be accepted by the Philippine Trade Commissioner at Washington before November 7. The issue is due November 15, and will comprise three stamps totaling twelve cents in face value.

To get these stamps, send U.S. money order covering face value of the stamps you want, and stamped self-addressed envelope, to the Philippine Trade Commissioner, 919 Barr Building, Washington, D.C.—but not before November 7!

Stamps for the Eucharistic Congress to be held in Manila next year will not be on sale before January 15. The exact date of sale will be announced later by the Philippine Trade Commissioner.

Poland has issued two special stamps in connection with the recent Gordon Bennett balloon race, which started from Warsaw. Some of the balloons carried mail.

Besides a new set of stamps commemorating the fourth centenary of the founding of Buenos Aires, Argentina is preparing a series depicting the heroes and other illustrious men of its early days.

Acclamation For Ward Officers

When nominations for officers of Ward Five Liberal Association closed, three elections by acclamation were posted. Others will be filled at the annual meeting next Wednesday.

E. M. Whyte, president; R. V. Jenkins, vice-president, and Walter Harris Jr., treasurer, have been returned to office unopposed.

L. H. McLaren and Victor Speed were nominated for the post of secretary. A ballot will be held at the annual meeting and six members of the ward executive chosen at the same time.

B.C. Seed Fair On December 7

Announcement has been made today that the annual British Columbia seed and root fair will take place in conjunction with the B.C. winter fair at the exhibition grounds, Vancouver, December 7 to 9. Prize lists are available by writing to the Field Crops Commissioner, Department of Agriculture, Victoria. Special attention is directed to the fact that entries close November 28.

The fair is being held under the combined auspices of the B.C. Department of Agriculture and Dominion seed branch in co-operation with the Vancouver Exhibition Association.

The prize list includes classes for commercial seed as well as hand-picked samples.

Funeral of Late Contractor Held

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—A funeral service was held here today for the late Joseph William Bye.

The seventy-five-year-old contractor, who had constructed a number of large buildings in Vancouver, died Tuesday following a short illness.

He was born in Boston, Mass., and came to British Columbia in 1899 to erect a smelter at Grand Forks.

In 1902 he was in charge of construction of a smelter at Crofton, B.C., and in 1906 came to Vancouver.

The Ministerial Association will meet Monday morning in the Y.W.C.A. at 10 o'clock. Rev. A. M. Acheson-Lyle will speak on "The Vimy Pilgrimage."

Members of the City Council, the fire chief and building inspector will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock to discuss the city's new building by-law.

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will hold their "St. Andrew's Nicht" concert and dance in the Foresters' Hall Cormorant Street. Rev. Richmond Craig will preside. A splendid programme has been arranged with the following artists assisting: Pipers A. Pollock and A. McMillan; Miss C. Denison soprano; R. Morrison tenor; F. Jarvie, penny whistle; W. R. Wood, baritone; Master Walter Burgess, Highland dancing; Geo. Farmer, tenor; Miss Carol Menzies, contralto; Messrs. Prullet and Fullerton, violin and accordion, and Miss Jessie Jones, pianist.

Ontario Man In Mercy Killing

I. Pentland Tells Police His Sister Was in Ill-health

Canadian Press

Meaford, Ont., Nov. 26.—In an undertaking parlor, where gray-haired fifty-eight-year-old Irwin Pentland went to buy a casket, the story of a "mercy killing" became public yesterday. Pentland mentioned he required the coffin for his sister—"I shot her last night."

Unkempt, unexcited, he was taken to Owen Sound and charged with the murder of his sister, Ola, fifty-five, whose body police found on a bed in the Pentland summer cottage at Kiowana Beach, three and a half miles north of here on Georgian Bay.

"I just took a notion to shoot her," Pentland explained quietly to Provincial Constable Harry Noble and Meaford officers who went to Kiowana Beach to arrest him. "She'd been complaining about her health. I intended to shoot my mother and take my own life."

But the rifle wouldn't fire a second time, though Pentland said he took aim at his aged mother and pulled the trigger. Police said the reason was that the gun was not loaded.

Authorities indicated Pentland would be examined mentally.

Plans Drafted For Session

Federal Government Next Monday Will Announce Parliament Date; January 7 Expected

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Definite decision has not yet been reached by the government as to the date Parliament will meet.

Following a cabinet meeting yesterday Prime Minister King intimated official announcement of the date would be made next Monday.

It is generally believed the opening date will be either January 7 or January 14, with the likelihood the earlier date will be selected unless it is found impossible to have preparations complete by that time. This will be a month earlier than the usual opening.

With many important matters that must of necessity be taken up at the forthcoming session, the early date is being chosen in an attempt to complete the legislative programme in time for prorogation at the end of April. The Prime Minister and the majority of the ministers, as well as many members of the Commons and the Senate, will leave early in May for London to attend the Coronation of King Edward VIII and the Imperial Conference, which will follow immediately after that function.

British Food For Spaniards

Coal Also Exempted From Ban on Ships' Cargoes

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 26.—Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons yesterday foodstuffs and coal would not be affected by the government's decision to prohibit carrying of munitions by British ships to either side in the Spanish civil war.

Mr. Eden also said that, with a view to mitigation of the suffering of the Madrid population, Gen. Francisco Franco, the insurgent leader, had agreed to an extension by approximately one square mile of the security zone in Madrid, including the British and United States embassies and several legations. The proposal was put forward by the British and other ambassadors to Spain. The Foreign Secretary said he trusted that this would afford safety to non-combatants of all kinds.

SUBMARINE ATTACKS

Philip Noel-Baker, Labor, urged the government instruct British warships in Spanish waters to make reports on such incidents as the reported submarine attack on Spanish government warships on the ground that such incidents might result in an international war.

Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, said he was opposed to the suggestion. He added it was the vital interest of the British government not to interfere with things that did not concern it.

Chamber of Deputies Asks Committee to Report on Proposal to Renew Negotiations For Settlement

Associated Press

Paris, Nov. 26.—The Chamber of Deputies turned over to its foreign affairs committee today a resolution to authorize renewal of negotiations for settlement of war debts with the United States.

Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos, scheduled to appear before the committee tomorrow to discuss the European situation, was expected to touch on the measure.

Authoritative sources expressed belief France was resolved to repair her own friendships abroad—particularly with the United States—to counteract the German-Japanese anti-Communism accord. They declared, therefore, the government might look favorably on the debt proposal.

"NO MORE WHITTLING"

Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 26.—A belief that "the American people will not welcome a further whittling of foreign obligations" was expressed today by Senator Nye, North Dakota Republican, as he studied reports that French officials were considering a revoval of war debt negotiations with the United States.

"European nations seem to be able to spend freely on preparations for another war," he said.

VIEWS DIFFER

He disagreed with chairman Pittman of the Senate foreign relations committee and Senator Lewis, Illinois Democrat, a committee member, who predicted an early settlement of the war debts.

Mr. Nye added, however, that reopening of negotiations would be "a promising sign" and that he hoped payments eventually might be resumed.

SEA OTTERS DISCOVERED

Washington Hears That Isolated Island of Alaska Alive With Them

Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 26.—Discovery that an almost unknown Alaskan island is alive with sea otters—said to be the only animals literally worth their weight in gold—was reported yesterday by Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma.

Long believed to be virtually extinct, sea otters produce the most valuable of all furs. Single pelts have sold for as much as $2,500.

Returning from a four-week tour of Alaska, Thomas said the otter refuge had been discovered by Commander L. V. Kielhorn of the coastguard cutter Chelan.

Three thousand of the little streamlined animals were counted along the island's rocky shore, Kielhorn said in a report to the Senate.

Thomas asked that the island's name be kept secret until he could introduce legislation making it a permanent game preserve.

He suggested an invaluabe source of furs might be developed by protecting the island as a breeding ground under coastguard control.

Once fairly common in the Bering Sea, the otters have been hunted down by Japanese, Russians and Eskimos.

Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological Park here, said that to his knowledge no otter was in captivity. He explained that the animals, accustomed to cold, salt water and an Arctic climate, could not survive captivity.

FRENCH PRESS LAW DRAFTED

Cabinet Approves New Regulatory Bill For Submission to Parliament

Canadian Press From Havas

Paris, Nov. 26.—The cabinet yesterday evening approved submission to the French Parliament of the new press law.

The law carries the following stipulations, it was learned:

1. Every newspaper must be a company with registered stock.

2. The finance ministry will have supervision of newspaper accounts, which must bear an item on the balance sheet for all foreign resources.

3. In prosecutions for slander, if the author of the article is not available those responsible will be the director, managing director and the editor-in-chief. If the author is known these executives will be liable to prosecution as accomplices.

4. Parliamentary immunity will not be valid in cases where newspaper directors or editors-in-chief are prosecuted.

5. Each repetition of the original slander will be considered a new offence.

6. Provisions are made for punishing the spreading of false news of a nature disturbing to public order, as well as forbidding publication of certain newspapers abroad.

7. The correctional (minor criminal court) will become competent in slander cases, fines for this offence will be increased and appeal machinery speeded.

Hepburn Declares Charges Untrue

Canadian Press

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 26.—Premier Hepburn of Ontario has offered a $500 donation to charity if Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader, justifies charges the Premier withheld from the public certain sections of a report made by Gordon A. Brown, provincial auditor.

The auditor's statement, showing the province's debt was some $3,000,000 less since April 1, 1935, was read by the Premier at a meeting in Maynooth last week.

The dispute enlivened the campaign in the Hastings East provincial by-election, in which the two party leaders are participating.

Jowitt Again In British Labor Party

Canadian Press

London Nov. 26. — Sir William Jowitt, K.C., Attorney-General in the second Labor government who was expelled from the party in 1932 when he followed Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald into the National ministry, officially returned to the Labor fold yesterday evening.

The decision to re-admit him was taken by the national executive of the Labor Party. Since his explusion Sir William had continued to show close sympathy with the Labor movement and had appeared frequently on Labor platforms.

Sir William was a Liberal in 1929 when MacDonald, his party short of top-rank lawyers, invited him to become Attorney-General. He continued to hold the post until 1932 when, having lost his seat at Preston in the general election, he resigned

QUEBEC WATCHES TELEVISED NEWS

Canadian Press

Quebec, Nov. 26.—Citizens yesterday evening witnessed Quebec's first demonstration of a proposed method for news transmission by television. A transmitter was set up in a lobby and dispatches were flashed to the other end of a large chamber and on to a screen.

Master of Ceremonies William Hoyit Peck, television expert, explained the system as follows:

"The transmitting operator types out "sent" dispatches on tape entering a transmitter cabinet where a light beam explores each letter.

"The broken light beam falls on a photo-electric cell and becomes electric energy which is flashed through the ether to the receiver.

BRITISH LABOR SCORES CRIPPS

Canadian Press From Havas

London, Nov. 26 — The national executive committee of the Labor Party yesterday formally disclaimed responsibility for a recent statement by Sir Stafford Cripps, left-wing member of the party, to the effect it would not have been a bad thing for British workers if Germany had defeated Britain in the Great War.

The committee declared Sir Stafford's view in no way accorded with the official British labor movement and regretted a prominent member of the Labor Party had publicly expressed views so diametrically opposed to fundamental labor policy.

New Principal For Westminster School

London, Nov. 26. — John Traill Christie, headmaster of Repton School since 1932, yesterday was appointed headmaster of Westminster School.

Mr. Christie abolished the Eton jacket at Repton School. He said it left off where it ought to begin and resembled what the defence services called "monkey jackets." It might suit monkeys, but not human beings, he added. He also abolished lounging in deck chairs at cricket matches.

The new headmaster succeeds Dr. Harold Costley-White, appointed canon of Westminster Abbey as a result of the death of Dr. Percy Dearmer.

War-time Mines Under French Road

Handling Automobiles Should Be Part of Curriculum, Says Montreal Recorder

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Driving of automobiles should be a subject on the curricula of schools and colleges, Recorder Leonce Plante of Montreal declared at the National Safety Conference here yesterday.

In some schools, he said, pupils were prohibited from having cars and in others they were allowed them only with their parents' consent. Thus the question whether they should have cars was not dependent on ability to drive, but on "parental indulgence."

Drunken drivers should have their licenses taken away, the recorder said, and all judges and recorders should have power to suspend licenses.

Recorder Plante advocated establishment of speed zones. Controlled speed is not a menace, he stated, and there are places within cities where a driver may safely travel forty or fifty miles an hour when he sees everything is clear.

The automobile with certain hands at the wheel is Canada's "greatest murderer," said Prof. W. D. Tait, chairman of the department of psychology at McGill University.

CONSERVATIVE NEW LANCASHIRE M.P.

Preston, Lancashire, Eng., Nov. 26.—The National Government yesterday won a by-election here when Captain E. C. Cobb, Conservative, was elected to the House of Commons to fill the seat vacated by W. M. Kirkpatrick on receiving a government appointment in China.

Cobb polled 32,575 votes against 30,970 for F. G. Bowles, Labor, and 3,221 for Miss Florence White, Spinsters' Pensions candidate, giving him a margin of 1,605, which compared with a majority of 4,572 polled by Kirkpatrick in the general election last year.

Miss White's candidature gave the contest a novel touch. She is the founder of the National Spinsters' Pensions Association, whose aim has been to secure pensions for spinsters at fifty-five. The Preston branch is said to have 900 members, many of them men. Miss White is in business at Bradford as a confectioner.

Cobb's election gives the Conservative party both members representing Preston's dual constituency. A. C. Moreing is the other member.

L. GAUTHIER DIES

Montreal, Nov. 26 (Canadian Press) —Leon Gauthier, fifty-two, former newspaperman, who as Conservative Party secretary in Quebec worked with Premier Duplessis, Arthur Sauve and Camillien Houde during their terms as leaders of the opposition in the provincial legislature, died at his home here yesterday.

DETECTIVE KILLS THREE ROBBERS

Associated Press

Gary, Ind., Nov. 26.—Three bandits were killed and a fourth captured yesterday evening when police foiled a holdup of sixty patrons in a downtown gambling place.

The men met death at the hands of Al Lichtenfeld, veteran detective, who returned their fire with a shotgun as they attempted to escape from a second-floor window.

Police were summoned by a resident living on the opposite side of Washington Street, who saw the gunmen enter the establishment and line up the patrons.

When the police detail attempted to break through the front door, the bandits fled to the rear of the building. In desperation they leaped through the second-floor window and tried to slide down telephone poles.

Their bodies hurtled to the pavement as the deadly fire from Lichtenfeld's sawed-off shotgun took effect after the bandits had emptied their revolvers wildly.

Associated Press

Chicago, Nov. 26.—The police bureau of identification here announced today that three men slain after an attempted holdup at Gary, Ind., were identified in fingerprint records as Daniel Collueci, thirty-one, Paul Hoffman, thirty-nine, and Horace Simmons, fifty, all paroled convicts of Chicago.

Their companion, who said he was Gus Kokenes, twenty-five, of Chicago, was captured.

Ex-policeman Sent to Prison

Associated Press

New York, Nov. 26.—A judge sentenced a former police sergeant yesterday to five to ten years in prison for killing his wife, with this side comment on "nagging" wives

"A flippant, tantalizing female may drive a man to desperate limits."

The former police officer, Frank X. Donnelly, killed his thirty-seven-year-old wife, Marion, with his service revolver.

Sinister But Silly

GERMANY AND JAPAN HAVE got together on what they choose to call an anti-Communist crusade. They have signed the "papers." Teuton and Nipponese from now on will look under the bed o'nights to find out whether there is some wild-eyed, bewhiskered gentleman lurking there to put on a bolshevising act.

What a travesty on so-called human progress! Wilhelm Hohenzollern, the recluse of Doorn, must wonder what his Germany of old is thinking about in tying herself up with Japan. For was it not that same Wilhelm Hohenzollern, only a few years before he sent his legions to find Germany's "place in the sun," who tried to send shivers down the backs of European peoples with his scare of the "Yellow Peril"?

With the higgeldy-piggeldy state of international affairs at this stage, of course, it is not a simple matter to get a fair reaction. It is to be noted, however, that Great Britain has announced her intention to remain aloof from what the Canadian Press cable this morning calls "Germany's anti-Communist crusade." Says Mr. George Hambleton, the Canadian Press staff writer in London: "With a characteristic snap of his fingers, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin already has dismissed Fascism and Communism alike as political extremes with which Britain has no sympathy."

"We may all of us detest Communism," comments The Morning Post, "but we are not for that reason going to be lured into the net that is spread privately for the promotion of the interests of others."

"There are rumors, probably not without substance," The London Times observes, "that the agreement provides for the establishment of German and Japanese economic spheres, economic—ultimately political—influence in the Dutch East Indies; a development which would certainly react upon our position in Hongkong and Singapore. Whether that development is really in prospect or not, Japanese penetration southward in China is likely to be considerably accelerated by the pact, which greatly lessens her apprehensions with regard to the Manchurian frontiers.

"Nearer home there is reason for fear that Germany's persistent and inexcusable campaign against the alleged 'Bolshevizing' of Czechoslovakia may bear unpalatable fruit. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good but it is not easy yet to select the beneficiaries from the latest disturbance of the political atmosphere."

The Daily Mail, which is strongly anti-red, says: "The salvation of Britain will be to keep clear of difficulties which do not concern us. But the soul of independence is strength. We must stop playing weakling and rearm."

The Daily Herald, Labor, declared the pact is "a menace to world peace and democracy and—it is well to be perfectly blunt—to France, Britain and all peaceful nations. There is only one possible remedy for the accumulating danger and that is to recreate and regenerate the League of Nations at once. To say that it is impossible is criminal defeatism. And it is nonsense. There are governments enough who want peace and peoples enough who long only for peace to rebuild the League. And rebuilt it must be."

The thing that sticks out a mile is that Russia, Communistic though she may be, wants to be let alone, wants to get on with her own business. Those in charge of affairs at Moscow naturally cast their minds back to the days of Napoleon. True, modern science has changed matters; but the fact still remains that geography still is able to put the thumb of scorn to the nose of derision.

Christmas Day Mail

THE POSTMAN IS AGAIN TO RING the front door bell on Christmas morning. Premier Mackenzie King has announced the government's decision to have mail deliveries on Christmas Day, also on all other public holidays and on all days except Sunday.

So far as Christmas Day was concerned, as The Ottawa Journal remarked in carrying the announcement, the absence of the postman took much from it. With his cards and letters of greeting, or other small remembrances from friends and relatives, some of them perhaps in distant parts, he was as much a part of Christmas Day as Santa Claus is a part of Christmas Eve. Nor could there be compensation in that post office efficiency which delivered all Christmas greetings the day before Christmas; there are some things in life which efficiency cannot do.

As for the postman himself, there is a feeling that he enjoyed his Christmas Day visits. He was a welcome visitor; the recipient, too, of gifts and little remembrances, of merry exchanges with old friends who on that day, above all others, were likely to show how much they appreciated him.

Much inconvenience and sometimes loss of business has been caused by the non-delivery of mail in this country on public holidays throughout the year. There can be no doubt that the people of Canada will welcome the inauguration of a daily-except-Sunday mail delivery service throughout the year. For the postmen, the provision of remuneration for extra work with holidays on other days will make the change not unwelcome to them.

THERE WILL BE MANY IN VICtoria and throughout the province who will be grieved to learn of the death of Robert Dunn Jr., Deputy Minister of Mines for British Columbia for more than a decade. He had been in hospital for several weeks, but, until a few days ago, there was every hope he would recover and be able to take up his job again.

Fate decreed otherwise. We of the newspaper business knew "Bob" Dunn, son of a sterling character in the same profession, and find it difficult to pay adequate tribute to his memory. The Times has known "Bob" Dunn for twenty years, and more, so we give him "Thirty" and all that that implies.

Report From Quebec

SENSATIONAL REPORTS OF SEParationist tendencies and economic radicalism have during recent months, since the ousting of the long-entrenched Taschereau forces, come out of Quebec to mystify English-speaking Canadians who have been unable to understand just what is going on in the French-speaking province. To those who hope for political and economic stability, the character sketch of Premier Duplessis by Leslie Roberts in the current Maclean's is reassuring. "When it comes to pushing over the applecarts of trade," Mr. Roberts notes, "the new Premier moves with softer tread, confining his histrionics to matters not likely to turn the province's economy topsy-turvy. He may repudiate an occasional Taschereau lease or minor contract, but Maurice Duplessis is not going to turn Quebec upside down."

Jean Valjeans

IF SOLOMON WERE LIVING TOday, he would probably find himself appointed sole arbiter of "modern Jean Valjean" cases, while those of mixed babies would be given to lesser legal lights.

For the Valjean problems seem to be among the knottiest with which the forces of justice have to grapple nowadays. Their pattern is similar. Imprisoned for a minor offence, a man escapes jail, builds an honest career, and then is found out.

The dilemma that arises is formidable. If the man is returned to jail, the disgrace may blight his life. If not, his debt to society will remain unpaid, and a bad precedent is created. The solution is not made easier by pleas of the man's friends and business acquaintances.

To the authorities who have to handle such cases, the thought must come that Solomon had something of a sinecure.

The Housing Scheme Lag

A VANCOUVER CORRESPONdent, a realtor, takes issue with a recent optimistic editorial article in Maclean's Magazine on the Dominion Housing Scheme.

Dealing with the way the scheme is working out in British Columbia, this correspondent, Mr. R. M. Bower, points to a "catch" in its effectiveness. The loan or insurance company that has to advance 60 per cent of each loan at 5 per cent, he explains, has the final say as to whether the loan is to be made.

"Thousands of applications for loans were made in Vancouver and I understand only three or four were accepted as good risks," he writes. "The loan and insurance companies have too many old houses that they have loaned money on at 6 and 7 per cent. They, therefore, have no intention of accepting 5 per cent loans. The whole scheme is a farce, and until the government does the loaning, there will be no great amount of building."

If this is the case, it may hold the explanation of the lag in the looked-for stimulation to the building industry. Big things were expected from the scheme by those interested in the basic industry of construction, which has been holding back in the current recovery move, as well as by all the allied supply industries. These expectations have not yet been realized. Ottawa may have to direct its attention to removing the "catch" to which Mr. Bower refers.

Notes

Another reported proof of recovery is the return of the "high hat."

One recipe for saving the world: First find somebody else's money to spend.

Nature evens things. The more a man loves himself, the less he is loved by others.

"Upset over her divorce, movie actress goes fishing." One would think she would prefer to stay single for awhile.

"The wonder of this age," says Hitler, "is that you found me." "But we had not noticed him making an effort to hide well enough to make it hard.

Gambling clubs, some of them having as high as 7,000 and 12,000 members, are operating openly in Vancouver, according to the evidence before the current police inquiry there. Vancouver always did boast of going in for things in a big way.

The story of the eighteen-year-old Detroit youth who told his companions he could drink a pint of whisky without pausing for breath, gulped down the liquor in ten minutes, and died, carries a warning for us all. To show off, to try to outdo others, is a trait that doubtless has brought fame to many people. But it often can result in just such a tragedy as that which befell the Detroit youth. We are "showing off," for instance, when we drive recklessly. Some of us may like to boast of having been on a twenty-four-hour "binge," or having gone without sleep for so many hours. Others, fat, forty, and with none too hale a heart, like to take stairsteps three at a time to impress themselves or others. It is all very well to demonstrate prowess, but be sure the cost may not be too great.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

LIFE WORK

MR. JEROME SCHATTNER of New York has devoted himself to an enthralling life work. It is his job to find out what makes ladies' ankles pretty or ugly. He works for shoe manufacturers.

Mr. Schattner has just written to The New York Times to announce the crowning success of his career. He announces, after a lifetime of investigation, that the women of New York City have prettier ankles than the women of any other place. As a matter of fact, says Mr. Schattner, all city girls have better ankles than country girls. He is willing to admit, with an open generosity, that there are some really beautiful ankles in Hollywood but "the average ankle in movieland can't measure up to those of our New York girls in any sense."

"Even allowing for Mr. Schattner's own civic patriotism, I suppose it is necessary to accept the conclusion of a man who has been studying the subject for a lifetime; although I have known fellows here in Victoria who were pretty talented amateurs in the same field of science and they insist that the local product is of a high standard.

But the tragedy of Mr. Schattner and these local amateurs, a moving tragedy indeed when you come to think of it, is that after they have studied all types of beauty in ankles, after they have graded them, classified them, judged them and laid their conclusions on them before the world, they must realize, when off duty, for a quiet hour, that their life work has been largely in vain.

In moments of brutal frankness, they must admit to themselves that no ankles are beautiful at all, that if the same shape were used in architecture, for example, or in any place but on a lady, it would be considered ugly in the extreme. So, of course, would the whole female anatomy, as Nietzsche and other philosophers besides me have pointed out.

All ideals of beauty, of course, are developed on the same basis, by association, and probably to a child whose mind has not been stylized by conventions and by dead men's ideas, our finest buildings, pictures and jewels appear quite hideous, while a seashell or a nice brown chestnut may seem superb. We can get used to anything after a while and believe it is lovely if enough people tell us it is.

That is why a lady's ankle—a bony structure, much like the bone you throw to your dog, an ugly protuberance, an unnatural swelling in the flowing of the leg, a bump such as you would never permit on the leg of a table—is considered beautiful. Still, I don't think the ladies need to worry. No one is going to tell the truth about ankles. They are going to be considered beautiful so long as ladies have them. Mr. Schattner's great life work is probably safe.

VICTORIANA

"IT'S FUNNY," said Gladys, the stenog., how people are, if you know what I mean. I mean, they're funny, aren't they? Well, I was out all this week trying to collect money for our club's Christmas fund. Every year we make up hampers and all that for the poor and we do a lot of good work, too. I guess I called on twenty people and all I got the first day was $1.75. And, mind you, all the houses I called on were in the swellest part of town, big houses with servants and all that. You'd be surprised how a woman who'll spend a hundred dollars on a dress will argue with you for half an hour whether she'll give you $2 or only one; or maybe she'll think it over and if you call tomorrow maybe she'll leave something for you. And tomorrow she leaves you 75 cents. Yeah, and next day you'll read in the society page that she's giving a cocktail party for a mob of the village soaks and the liquor will cost her $100 alone. So far I've collected seven bucks and five of that came from the girls in the office. I mean, people are funny, aren't they?"

FINE PROFESSION

WHEN YOU look through the magazines you realize that there must be a large army of men and women who make their living by posing for advertising pictures. There must be thousands of ladies who keep their husbands, a dozen children and their aged parents by being photographed in underclothes, or less. There must be thousands of fine young men who are establishing themselves in life by displaying their teeth for the tooth paste companies. There must be thousands of aged ladies supporting themselves, their children and grandchildren in great luxury by posing in the advertisements as the poor old woman who died in dire poverty because her husband didn't insure her life.

And then there is the great craft of workers who can look sick and emaciated at a moment's notice and who privately enjoy good nourishment and excellent health by posing as the shuddering victims of all kinds of diseases; the men who can appear to have a cold in the head which will likely turn into pneumonia if they don't drink somebody's medicine right away; the women who can pose with a spiritual, far-away look in their eyes, to show that they are expecting a blessed event and certainly require the protection of life insurance, or somebody's nerve food.

This work is becoming one of the most skilled in America and one of the largest present sources of employment. It is nice work, too, if you can get it. Indeed, there is no reason any more for a man to starve if he can look as if he were suffering from some dreadful disease. There is no excuse for a woman being in want if she can get a far-away maternal look in her eyes.

Martin Harvey In "Oedipus"

From a London Correspondent

Sir John Martin Harvey has been playing Sophocles' tragedy, "Oedipus Rex," at Covent Garden.

Professors of Greek, well-known society women, famous literary figures and eminent actors were among the first-night audience—one of the most mixed that has ever been seen in a London theatre. They sat waiting, watching the two Greek soldiers standing motionless on the stage by the high beaten copper gates of the Palace of Thebes.

Then 300 Thebans came running down the gangway dividing the audience. It was a novel experience to feel, as you sat in the stalls, that you were taking part in the play.

It is twenty-four years since London saw "Oedipus Rex," and, although the great tragedy moves relentlessly to its close without a single interval, the whole of the audience sat attentively throughout.

There was a bar on late-comers, so that none of the audience, as happened once before the war, could get mixed with the Theban crowd and find themselves on the stage. The management held up the start of the tragedy for ten minutes, and only one or two people did not get to their seats in the stalls in time.

For the first time in London, the great chorus sang and half-chanted their words, to music composed of fragments of the Phrygian Mode, which are in the British Museum.

HARD-BITTEN NOW

As the drama ended with Oedipus Rex staggering blinded from the Palace on the stage, through the auditorium, the audience sat silent.

Which shows how hard-bitten we have become. In 1912, when Reinhardt's production of "Oedipus Rex" was first seen, hospital nurses were stationed in the Covent Garden foyer every night—and they were needed.

As soon as Martin Harvey began the staggering last journey of Oedipus up the centre of the stalls, screams would be heard and members of the audience would faint. Others would rush whimpering to the doors.

Sir John Martin Harvey hurried back to the stage at this week's first night to take more than ten curtains. There were cries of "Speech, speech." He came forward and said:

"I cannot quite understand for whom you are calling. Perhaps it is the author. But, for obvious reasons, he cannot be here tonight."

Then he thanked the audience for the way they had received the tragedy and his fellow-workers and staff for the way they had helped him to produce it.

"I would like, too, to thank one old friend of mine whose modesty forbids me to mention his name, whose help has enabled me to revive this play."

Afterwards I called on Sir John in his dressing-room.

"I cannot, in any circumstance, divulge the name of my friend," he said in reply to a question from me. "He would not like that. But it is through his kindness that I have been able to show "Oedipus Rex" to London again."

Asked what he himself thought of the performance, Sir John said, "It is a little difficult for me to say. The French have a saying, 'When a man begins to understand art, he never talks about it any more'."

Most people who have seen the production agree that it is impressive and that Sir John gives a performance quite astonishing for a man of his years.

CORONATION LORD MAYOR

From a London Correspondent

Upon Alderman Sir George Broadbridge, elected Lord Mayor of London for the Coronation year, will devolve important duties during the Coronation ceremonies.

In the Coronation procession, the Lord Mayor of London walks on the left of the Garter King of Arms. He wears his robe, collar, and jewel, and carries the crystal sceptre or mace, which is said to date from Saxon times, and which is only used at coronations.

The election ceremony followed age-old custom.

The Recorder, Sir Holman Gregory, K.C., informed "the good men of the livery of the several Companies of this City" that they had assembled to elect a Lord Mayor for the ensuing civic year.

The Common Serjeant, Mr. Cecil Whiteley, K.C., read the names of the eight aldermen eligible for election.

"How many of you will have Sir George Thomas Broadbridge, Alderman and Loriner, for the ensuing year, hold up your hands," he said. This was greeted by cries of "All!" Asked the same question as to Sir Harry Edward Augustus Twyford, Alderman and Framework Knitter," the liverymen replied: "Next year."

The names of the other six were each greeted with cries of "Later."

After Sir George had been elected, he expressed thanks for his election and said that as centuries passed changes everywhere seemed almost inevitable, but the rights and privileges of the City of London remained, among them being the annual election of a Lord Mayor.

"Millionaires" at Steveston

From The New Westminster British Columbian

This year's run of sockeyes has been the most profitable to the fishermen in the whole history of the Fraser River, according to A. J. Monk, Fraser River Fish Company Limited, due to a combination of quantity and price. In point of numbers of fish taken, it is the largest since 1913, but in point of returns to the fishermen there is no parallel. In 1913 the canners were paying 15 cents apiece for sockeye salmon and placed a limit of 200 to the boat for any one day's fishing. In other words the maximum return was $30 a day. In this year's run, with the canners paying 55 cents, many a good fisheman has made $30 in one drift.

At the peak one river boat took in $243 for a day's fishing. Down river much higher returns were made. It is authentic that one boat took 1,200 sockeye in twenty-four hours. Steveston is a home of millionaires these days. Along the waterfront here it is believed that an average of $5,000 for thirty days' fishing would be a conservative estimate of the returns to the Japanese fishermen in the gulf and around the mouth of the river.

THE JEWS IN PALESTINE

From The New Statesman and Nation

At present there are rather more than 400,000 Jews in Palestine, as against 84,000 in 1922, and they form about a third of the population. The "cultivable area" is officially returned as well under 3,000,000 acres—about a tenth of the agricultural land of England and Wales. Of this the Zionists, through their funds or privately, own less than an eighth. Agriculturally Palestine is not a land flowing with milk and honey. The one important development is citrus-growing on a stretch of light land near the coast. About 70,000 acres are planted. Of these the Jews own 40,000, while the Arab orange-groves have increased from 5,000 to 30,000 in the last fifteen years. Apart from this area, which is capable of some further development, Palestine would never have been considered suitable for close settlement if it had not been for its religious associations.

AN EARLY "UNITED" CHURCH

From The Brockville Recorder and Times

The church familiarly described as the "Anglican church" was not always the "Church of England in Canada." At an earlier period it was officially known as "The United Church of England and Ireland in Canada" and it is so described in legislation passed by the parliament of the Canadas in 1858 granting its members the right to meet in synod.

War Premier's Memoirs Praise Canadians

Haig Criticized By Lloyd George

Final Volume of British Ex-Prime Minister's Series Says Commander-in-chief Had Serious Defects; Describes Canadian Army as Great Force; Gen. Monash of Australia Able Leader

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 26.—"Whenever the Germans found the Canadians in the line they prepared for the worst," declares Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George in the sixth and final volume of his war memoirs published today.

The Canadians, he adds, were the "fire-hardened point of our attack whenever any difficult thrust had to be undertaken."

The wartime Prime Minister pays tribute to the military ability of General Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian Corps, and General Sir John Monash, the Australian.

Gen. Monash, he says, was "the most resourceful general in the whole British Army," but "professional soldiers could hardly be expected to advertise the fact that the greatest strategist in the army was a civilian when the war began. . . . The greatness of the abilities of Monash was not drawn to the attention of the Cabinet in any dispatches."

HAIG UNDER FIRE

Of Sir Douglas (afterwards Earl) Haig, commander of the British forces in France, Mr. Lloyd George writes: "Haig ordered many bloody battles and only took part in two. He never even saw the ground of the gratest battle fought, either before or during the fight. Field Marshall Sir William Robertson, Haig's chief adviser, never even saw a battle."

"Untrue and disgracefully unfair," is Mr. Lloyd George's opinion of the statement the March, 1918, retreat was due to the neglect of the government to provde Haig with reinforcements.

The author says it is shown by official figures to be a device to "cast upon others the blame for Haig's own mismanagement of the enormous resources of men and equipment at his disposal."

"PARALYTIC FRIGHT"

He continues that "nothing but paralytic fright" after the March disaster could so completely have converted Haig in a few days to the need for control of the battlefront by Foch, whom he had called "a great talker."

Concerning the contention he had not openly criticized the military leadership at the time, Mr. Lloyd George says it was important not to undermine public confidence in the commander-in-chief. He had never concealed from his Cabinet colleagues that he thought Haig "intelectually and temperamentally unequal to the task."

Dealing with points raised in Haig's diaries, as edited by Rt. Hon. Alfred Duff Cooper, concerning the defeat of the Fifth Army, the former Prime Minister accuses Haig of failing to improve defences, of distributing troops badly and of declining to carry out plans, to which he had assented, for the establishment of a general reserve designed to support any threatened sector.

GOUGH DEFENDED

"But when (General Sir Hubert) Gough was beaten owing to conditions for which Haig alone was responsible, Haig, instead of accepting responsibility as an officer and gentleman, removed Gough from his command and left the government to infer the general was alone to blame."

AVOIDANCE OF DANGERS

"The solicitude with which generals in high places avoided personal jeopardy is one of the debatable novelties of modern warfare," Mr. Lloyd George says. "This departure from established methods of warfare has gone too far. It is a new thing for generals who have never set eyes on a position to command their soldiers to attack it without the slightest intention of placing themselves in any peril."

Mr. Lloyd George asserts that before the Passchendaele offensive he gave in great detail to the Cabinet and to Haig and Robertson the reasons why he thought the attack would not yield results worth the losses. He was unable to veto it because nearly half the Cabinet accepted the view of the military leaders.

"But ought I not to have resigned rather than acquiesce in the slaughter of brave men?" he asks. "I have always felt there are solid grounds for criticism in that respect. My sole justification is that Haig promised not to press the attack if it became clear he could not attain his objectives by continuing the offensive. Robertson endorsed this undertaking."

VERSAILLES STORY

Mr. Lloyd George hints he will write his reminiscences of the Versailles Peace conference.

The Countess of Haig's biography of her husband is due next week.

U.S. OBSERVES THANKSGIVING

President Roosevelt Eats Turkey Dinner on Cruiser Bound For Buenos Aires

Associated Press

New York, Nov. 26.—The United States, spurred by evidences of increasing prosperity, observed today its annual Thanksgiving.

All over the country there was feasting and merrymaking as families gathered around their holiday boards which, in most cases, held the traditional bird of the day—turkey.

It was also a day of religious observances. Churches everywhere held special services.

Recent increases in wages and bonuses announced by many industrial and business concerns, together with increased dividends to stockholders, gave many families added reason to be thankful.

The observance was not confined within the United States, for it was also a day of celebration for United States soldiers and sailors and diplomatic representatives around the world.

RULING SOON ON MARKETING ACT

Privy Council Ends Hearing in London on B.C. Appeal on Bennett Enactment; Farmers' Creditors Act Appeal Heard

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 26.—Continuing its examination of the Bennett "new deal" legislation in Canada, the judicial committee of the Privy Council here today reserved judgment on an appeal regarding the constitutionality of the Dominion's Natural Products Marketing Act of 1934 and an amending act passed in 1935.

The Supreme Court of Canada had found the acts invalid.

British Columbia brought the appeal in an effort to have them declared valid. Respondents were the Attorney-Generals of Ontario and several other provinces.

Gustave Monette for Quebec maintained the decision of the Supreme Court was right. He said the Dominion Marketing Board was given power to arrange marketing schemes where marketing regulation was conducted by a local board. As the board had powers of regulation, it followed that it could prohibit the marketing of a regulated product.

WIDE POWERS

Lord Atkin, Privy Councillor, remarked the power given the Governor-in-Council seemed one of the largest powers he had seen given to the executive.

Mr. Monette urged that buying, selling and shipping for sale or storage and offering for sale all came within the meaning of marketing and should have been left to the provinces.

Frank Cahan for New Brunswick took the same attitude as Quebec. The Dominion could derive no help from the general claim that here was legislation for the peace and good government of Canada, he contended, nor could it invade the provincial sphere and regulate individual trades. There must be legislative co-operation between the Dominion and the provinces in such matters.

FARMERS' ACT

The Privy Council then proceeded to hear an appeal as to whether the Parliament of Canada had legislative jurisdiction to enact the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act of 1934, as amended by a supplementary act in 1935.

"This is the last lap, I understand," remarked Lord Atkin.

Ukraine Warns Hitler of Defeat

Reich Will Be Overwhelved If It Attacks, Says Premier Lubchenko

Associated Press

Moscow, Nov. 26.—The most inglorious defeat in history awaits Germany if she attacks the Ukraine M. Lubchenko, Prime Minister of the Ukranian Republic, told the All-union Congress of Soviets here today.

"Hitler will not find us as easy to conquer as East Prussia and the Rhineland," he declared.

Lubchenko cried: "The Nazis dream of destroying the Soviet Union. Our answer to them is contained in the Cossacks' famous letter to the Turkish Sultan." (That letter, one of the most vulgar in history, is depicted in Repin's noted painting, "The Answer of the Cossacks to Sultan Mahmoud IV.")

He continued: "We Ukranians have a popular saying now for Hitler. It is: 'Just as a pig never sees the sky, so Hitler never will see our vegetable gardens'."

REMINDER TO POLAND

He chided Poland, declaring, "The Poles seem to forget that Rosenberg (Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi Foreign Affairs official) wrote that destruction for Poland is the first demand of German policy. When they talk of the Soviet Union they do not remember they are in danger of being strangled by Germany."

Referring directly to the German-Japanese anti-Communsm agreement, Lubchenko declared: "A crusade is being prepared against the Soviet Union by a holy alliance," and recalled Ukranians "suffering" under the Germans in 1918.

He was roundly applauded.

COG MISSING IN WILL TRIAL

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 26.—Mr. Justice Nicol Jeffrey asserted today that "the most important cog in the wheel" was missing from the case before him—the case to upset the late Mrs. Theresa Small's $2,000,000 will and, incidentally, prove long-missing Ambrose Small was murdered by his wife and others.

In non-jury Ontario Supreme Court, the Judge heard George T. Walsh, K.C., counsel for Mary Florence Small, sister of the late Ambrose, who seeks to upset the will, open legal argument. The plaintiff had produced a purported confession to the murder, allegedly signed by Mrs. Theresa Small.

"No explanation has been given as to the non-appearance of the women who typed the confession," said the judge. "The most important cog in the wheel isn't there."

ATTACK PLANNED ON BARCELONA

Canadian Press from Havas

London, Nov. 26.—There are 40,000 Spanish insurgent soldiers, several hundred planes and almost as many Italian pilots concentrated at Mallorca for an attack on Barcelona, the correspondent of The London News-Chroncle said today.

He said planes, arms and ammunition and other supplies were arriving daily from Italy.

Since taking over the Balearic Islands, said the correspondent, the Fascists have instituted a "reign of terror" which has so far taken a toll of 1,500 lives.

MEXICO MINERS VOTE TO STRIKE

Associated Press

Mexico City, Nov. 26.—The miners' syndicate, claiming 80,000 membership, voted a general strike today protesting the American Smelting and Refining company's cosing three American plants in the last year.

The syndicate sent telegrams to the United Mine Workers of America asking backing and named committees to seek the support of the railway, oil and electric syndicates in Mexico.

No date was set for the strike.

"SAFETY ZONE" AT BARCELONA

Spanish Insurgents Pledge Britain Ships Secure at Menaced Port

Associated Press

London, Nov. 26.—The British Admiralty said today that the Spanish insurgent Gen. Francisco Franco had established "safety zones" for neutral shipping in Barcelona harbor in response to repeated British demands.

Franco's capitulation to the British demands came while eight submarines and the depot ship Cyclops were proceeding from Malta toward Spanish waters.

TENSION EASED

The move, informed sources said, was expected to relieve much of the tension created when Franco declared he would blow up Barcelona, if necessary, to halt shipments of arms to his foes.

FIERY FLASH SEEN AT SEA

Associated Press

Santa Monica, Cal., Nov. 26.—Reports of a terrific blast and a brilliant burst of flames off Santa Monica Bay resembling a ship explosion—sent the coastguard cutter Ewing speeding on a wide search today.

For nearly twenty miles along the coast, windows and dishes in homes from Santa Monica to Malibu Beach were reported shaken by a single sharp jar last night.

Many residents said they had seen a fiery flash at sea just before they heard the explosion.

LIGHTKEEPER'S REPORT

At the same time, the keeper of the Anacapa Lighthouse, twenty-five miles northwest of here, reported he had sighted a vessel apparently burning two red flares.

A lighthouse radio message was received by the cutter Ewing, which hurried to the scene, while lifeguard craft and private boats put out from shore. No trace of wreckage was reported. Sheriff's deputies said the blast might have been an exploding meteor.

but a provision was included that no editorial employee should be discriminated against because of membership in the Guild or similar organization.

The cases of Lynch and Armstrong were left with the National Labor Relations Board, which held a hearing here in September, and another in Washington, D.C., this month and set December 1 for the newspaper management to file a brief

MINIMUM WAGE SCALE

A minimum weeky wage scale was established in the strike-ending agreement of: $25 for editorial employees of less than three years' experience; $40 for those of three years; $20 for library clerks, home economics and society department employees of less than three years; $25 for those of more than three years; $15 for copy clerks, office clerks and messengers of less than three and $18 for those of more than three;

The "policy" provides for a forty-hour, five-day week effective March 1, 1937, with pay or time off for overtime. A forty-hour, six-day week had been in effect.

A statement issued last night by Publisher Lindeman said:

"The newsroom strike of The Post-Intelligencer has been settled. The terms were upon the basis incorporated in the draft prepared by the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor."

ALASKA PLANE LANDS SAFELY

Pilot Takes Machine Off From Beach 75 Miles West of Juneau and Arrives at Army Field; 11 Passengers Return Aboard Patrol Boat

Associated Press

Juneau, Alaska, Nov. 26.—Pilot Chet Brown landed his trimotored plane at the army airport nine miles from here today, after hopping from an improvised runway at Gull Cove, Idaho Passage, where he was forced down Monday en route here with eleven passengers and a co-pilot.

The coastguard patrol boat Morris, which found the plane and party at the cove, seventy-five miles west of here, late yesterday, took Brown's passengers aboard to lighten his load, and started for Juneau after the plane had taken off.

Debris Searched For Five Bodies

Juneau, Alaska, Nov. 26.—With eleven bodies now recovered, business men, laborers and miners joined today digging in the wreckage of Sunday's great landslide, hoping to find the bodies of five more persons believed to have been buried.

The rescue crews concentrated on the debris of the Nickinovich apartments, in which seven of the eleven known victims were crushed to death.

The recovery of three bodies last night left only five persons missing, two in the Nickinovich apartments, two in a building, and a woman in her boarding house.

Vancouver Civic Pay Cut Restored

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—Five per cent salary cuts will be restored to Vancouver civic employees, effective December 1, it was announced today.

Mayor McGeer yesterday gave his vote in favor of the restoration, defeating an amendment to put the question off until after the civic elections. Alderman W. W. Smith said the restoration would cost the city $24,000 for December and $280,000 next year.

TOMORROW TO BE DUEL DAY

Dr. F. Sarga in Budapest Has Seven of Original Nine Still to Fight

Associated Press

Budapest, Nov. 26.—Dr. Franz Sarga looked ahead to "peace" today—but not until he has fought seven more duels with the Hungarians who sneered at his marriage to a wealthy young belle.

He said he had one pistol duel for tomorrow and three sabre encounters for Saturday—"and this will leave me three more. I am going to settle this affair of honor, then I will be able to follow my peaceful profession."

In two pistol duels Tuesday, Sarga wounded one opponent and missed another.

"People don't seem to realize I am a victim of the social custom of duelling, but I am unwilling to hide behind sentimental phrases. I must have satisfaction in case of serious insult," Sarga said.

"My opponents aimed at excluding me from my social set. I am fighting not only for myself but for all who have been up against similar obstacles."

Nervousness because of the duels has considerably affected his wife, who is expecting a baby, the doctor said.

men's" bridge over the Manzanares River.

Fighting in the front lines with the militiamen was Isabel Tornel, Spain's first feminine troop commander. Slim, brunette, the twenty-three-year-old Communist—who in peacetime is a tenographer in the capital—won commendation for bravery under fire during the siege of Irun.

All trucks in the capital were requisitioned by the defence council to transport food from the provinces to Madrid. The majority of the city's residents went on an enforced vegetarian diet, because of a serious shortage of meat.

An Associated Press correspondent ordered a meal in a Madrid restaurant and this was what he got.

HIGHER CHERRY TARIFF SOUGHT

B.C. Growers Seek More Protection on Processed Fruit; Would Supply Whole Canadian Market

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—British Columbia fruit growers today applied to the Tariff Board for more protection against imported cherries in brine or sulphur solutions.

E. J. Chambers of Vernon, and V. B. Robinson of Cumberland, appeared for the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, which, they said, represented 2,300 growers in the Okanagan, Kootenay and Creston areas.

Processing of cherries for use as glace or maraschino cherries was started in British Columbia in 1932, Mr. Chambers said. In that year eighteen tons were processed and in 1933 100 tons. Last season 400 tons of fresh cherries were preserved in sulphur solution.

Returns to cherry producers were unsatisfactory, ranging from three cents a pound in 1932 to five cents in 1936, the growers' representative said. A minimum satisfactory return would be seven cents, but producers would be satisfied with reasonable operating costs, apart from interest on capital, which would be not less than five cents a pound for fresh fruit.

Of the present cherry production in British Columbia about 900 tons would be available annually and suitable for processing. He estimated the market in Canada for processed cherries at 1,000 to 1,200 tons.

DUTY LEVEL

"The duty on cherries in brine is 17½ per cent and for cherries in sulphur solution 32½ per cent," said Mr. Chambers.

MINIMUM PRICES

"The prices for 1936 are the absolute minimum at which the producer could be expected to continue to grow fruit for this purpose and this price is based on a delivered price in Vancouver of 14½ cents for processed cherries," said Mr Chambers.

"Imported cherries have been delivered at Vancouver as low as 10½ cents basis. The Canadian industry cannot survive if competition such as this again appears, and there is every indication at the present time that it will," he declared.

"We appreciate the difficulty in establishing a tariff that will give the protection at the low-price levels without unduly enhancing values when they reach higher levels.

"The labor cost in relation to the finished product is very high. The sulphur is manufactured in Trail, B.C., and the barrels at Vancouver. Practically the entire cost of production, processing, shipping and selling contributes to the payroll of Canada."

Italy was the greatest producer of processed cherries, Mr. Robinson told the board.

REQUEST OPPOSED

E. Percy Roberts of the Sazomia Fruit Company of Montreal presented argument on behalf of the Canadian manufacturers of maraschino-style cherries, glace and drained cherries against a tariff increase.

Those styles of fruit, he said, were used in the confectionary baking and ice cream industries and were small-sized cherries produced only in Italy.

Aberhart Urged To End Scrip Plan

vant to know that, thus used, the word 'voluntary' must be given a new meaning.

NO PURCHASING GAIN

"We respectifully point out that there is no increase in purchasing power when the Prosperity Certificates are substituted for part of the legal pay of a civil servant.

"Civil servants should not be subjected to the humilitation of trying to pass on to the commercial community an unwelcome and possible illegal medium of exchange.

"If the government has the money to pay salaries and relief in cash, why should it bother with the issue of Prospertity Certificates? If it has not the money, who is going to stand the loss when the whole pyramiding system breaks down, as similar systems have done elsewhere? At Portland, Oregon, the final winding up resulted in a payment of 10 cents on the dollar to the holders of the scrip.

INJURIOUS TO BUSINESS

"We repeat that the entire scheme of Prosperity Certificates is unworkable and injurious to general business confidence, and we again appeal to the government to recognize the failure of its experiment and to desist from it.

"A revival of business is in evidence throughout all the rest of Canada. Alberta will lag behind in that revival if this and other impedients to the restoration of confidence be not speedily removed."

Bribe Attempts Reported at Inquiry

tween the Attorney-General of British Columbia and the Vancouver city police in the matter of club licenses.

"The Attorney-General has granted no licenses to which we objected," Col. Foster said.

Mr. Maitland read into the record a long report by the chief constable on crime conditions today. Bootlegging, gambling, slot machines, white slavery and bunco games had been greatly reduced, according to the report.

Commissioner Macdonald ordered annual reports for 1935 of police department activities in Winnipeg and Toronto.

Oscar Orr, city prosecutor, corroborated evidence of police officials regarding difficulty of obtaining convictions against clubs because of the Supreme Court decision in the Bampton case.

"Speaking from a purely legal aspect, it doesn't matter if they are collecting at the table every five seconds, and as long as the Bampton case is precedent, the collections can be as big or as frequent as the operators wish," he testified.

NO ILLEGAL ACTS

Recalled to the stand, Superintendent Herbert Darling said he had not discovered illegal activity in frequent visits to the Pacific Athletic Club.

Commissioner Macdonald asked the witness if his attitude would be different if he considered the club as successor to the Burrard Club.

"If any illegal acts are reported, I would send officers to take action," Superintendent Darling replied.

Detective McFarlane said he had visited the Lumbermen's Club in June last year, and found nine tables being used for poker. Five of the games had one-cent ante and a 25 cent limit. One had a 5 cent ante and $1 limit," he said.

The detective said the clubs operate under a system openly known as the "Con Jones System."

"It is evident the pure gambling clubs are relying on the Bampton case decision to give them security," Mr. Maitland observed.

As the morning session closed, Mr. Maitland said he had finished with the club situation for "the time being."

YESTERDAY'S HEARING

At yesterday afternoon's hearing denial of charges made by W. A. Tucker that the criminal element in Vancouver was protected by a "pay-off" system was made by Major T. G. McLelan.

Major McLelan was legal adviser to Chief Constable W. W. Foster.

"Knowledge gained in the past two years make me certain there is no organized pay-off," he testified.

Commissioner Macdonald asked Major McLelan about the Tucker charge that McLelan was head of the pay-off.

"There's no truth in that statement regarding you and the pay-off?" he asked.

"Not a tittle," the witness replied.

Major McLelan told the commissioner that since amendment of the Liquor Act in 1923, licensed clubs had not been under jurisdiction of the city, and were not subject to control by city police.

He admitted he had heard rumors of a "pay-off" and had investigated it in the summer of 1935.

"I couldn't find any evidence of it, though," he said.

CREWS TO MAN ALASKA SHIPS

Agreement Reached Between U.S. Government and Pacific Coast Strikers For Sending of Relief Vessels "For Duration of Emergency"

Associated Press

San Francisco, Nov. 26.—Government spokesmen said today they had completed an agreement with striking maritime unions for manning emergency ships to Alaska during the water front tie-up.

Verbal agreements extending "for the duration of the emergency" were put in writing and signed between the Interior Department and the seven major maritime unions.

TO CHARTER SHIPS

Col. O. F. Ohlson, manager of the government-owned Alaska Railroad, executed the contracts under authority recently granted by President Roosevelt. By that same authority he will charter two private ships and use at least one government vessel to move necessities to the strike-isolated northern territory.

Completion of the agreement marked the first break in the west coast shipping tie-up which has been in effect since the unions struck October 30.

LOADING HALTED

Seattle, Nov. 26 (Associated Press).—J. J. Lichtenwalner, assistant purchasing agent for the Department of the Interior, said today he had been instructed by Col. O. F. Ohlson, manager of the Alaska Railroad, to halt all arrangements for dispatching the motorship Boxer with food and mail to Alaska.

Cohlson is in San Francisco and the Boxer was released by maritime strikers yesterday through his efforts to relieve reputed Alaska food shortages by means of a Presidential order, authorizing him to charter ships and transport necessities.

The Boxer is a Bureau of Indian affairs motorship.

The northwest joint strike committee was in recess for the Thanksgiving holiday after transmitting yesterday's vote to San Francisco on whether unions will man, load and discharge government-chartered ships for Alaska. Results of the vote were not announced here.

WORK IN VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—Conflicting reports came from Vancouver's waterfront today as members of the Vancouver Longshoremen's Association and the Canadian Waterfront Workers' Association continued to work deepsea vessels.

Striking International Longshoremen's Association leaders claimed picket lines, consisting of 140 members of their union at the start of the strike Monday, had been increased to nearly 300 by longshoremen who had walked from their jobs.

A spokesman for the Vancouver Longshoremen's Association, however, said a number of former pickets had turned up at the hiring hall today to apply for work.

The British Columbia Shipping Federation continued to refuse to divulge the number of men working or the number of ships being worked, but a spokesman for the longshoremen said 1,350 had been dispatched today to twenty-nine deepsea vessels.

I. L. A. members will meet tonight to decide on plans for next week's strike activities.

Bigger British Territorial Army

Canadian Press from Havas

London, Nov. 26.—Britain's territorial army has been increased by 37,770 men since October, 1935, Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for Co-ordination of Defence, informed the House of Commons yesterday.

Answering a question asked by Herbert Williams, Conservative, he said total effectives as of October 31 were 698,598, as against 660,828 last year.

Extends Economy Slogan to Shares

Canadian Press

Montreal, Nov. 26.—Alderman Pete Monett's campaign for re-election in the December 14 municipal voting is based on one word—economy. The alderman met one of his campaign organizers yesterday.

"How about 10 cents for a shave?" asked the organizer.

"Here's a nickel, get shaved on one side," replied the "economy" candidate.

STREET THEFTS

Vancouver Nov. 26 (Canadian Press).—Vancouver civic and police authorities are investigating the disappearance of catch-basin covers from city gutters. Seven of the heavy cast iron covers have disappeared during the past few weeks, leaving holes into which pedestrians might step, possibly resulting in serious injuries.

Indiana has two areas where hunters may shoot game with bows and arrows.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARCIA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CANFIELD, knows that the neighborhood is buzzing with gossip over the sudden disappearance of FRANK KENDRICK, whose engagement to Marcia has been announced. Since his disappearance, a shortage in Kendrick's funds has been discovered.

With her friend HELEN WADDELL, and others, Marcia is in a restaurant when there is a holdup. Marcia loses a ring that was her mother's.

Learning that Fran kis in Chicago, Marcia goes there to try to persuade him to return and face his financial obligations. Before she reaches him, Frank leaves again.

Meanwhile, TONY STELLICCI suspects his brother, CARLO, of being involved in the holdup and finds some of the loot in Carlo's home.

Marcia, learning her trip was in vain, takes a plane home. Storm forces the plane down and passengers seek shelter in a farmhouse. Among them is BRUCE McDOUGALL, a stranger whom Marcia has encountered twice before.

Marcia arrives home. Shortly after, there is another holdup. Marcia and Helen drop in to see their friends, the Bradfords. Bruce McDougall is there. He is an artist and has decided to make his home in the suburb.

On Christmas Day, when Marcia and her father are away, their home is robbed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

"Personally," said Philip Canfield, "I'm getting plenty sick of it! What kind of police department is this, anyway? Why isn't the town patroled?"

"But, Mr. Canfield," protested the chief, "think how these fellows operate. We have the descriptions of the four men, yes. It's getting so that practically everybody in town has seen them. But that doesn't tell us who they are. They don't live here; we haven't the faintest idea where to look for them."

"Well, something has to be done, certainly! What have you found out about the gang, anyway?"

"We know that it's always the same four men. We're almost certain that they invariably use stolen cars—the two they had in the bridge party holdup were found the same day, abandoned, and were identified as having been stolen over at the Junction only a couple of hours before the robbery. In the bridge party case we know they had a lookout and two drivers. Probably they had the same help in the other robberies."

"Has it occurred to you," asked Mr. Canfield, "that the lookout and drivers may be local men, who know the town perfectly, know how to escape by the best routes—and, more important, know when and where to plan the holdups?"

"Yes, it has. Well, we've tried to get a line on the three outside men. We found a couple of delivery boys who remembered seeing the two cars parked at Mrs. Henderson's at the time of the holdup there. But could they remember what the drivers were like, whether they'd ever seen them before? They could not."

It might conceivably have afforded a degree of satisfaction to the police as they sought for the pieces missing from their puzzle to know that Carlo Stellicci also had a problem growing out of the series of robberies.

The removal of property from its hiding place in the old trunk in his basement had worried him acutely for several days. And because his career had not been without blemish, he failed to have that trust in his fellow men which, had he possessed it, would have led him to make immediate inquiries and so solve his problem earlier.

On the day after Christmas Carlo closed his garage at 5 o'clock. His two helpers departed in a car belonging to one of them. Carlo himself walked to the station and boarded a train for New York.

There he took a taxi to a point in the East Forties and walked a block or two until he found a restaurant, where he ordered dinner. Loafing through the meal, he at last left the place and entered the subway, taking a local train. At the next stop he emerged on the street, a dozen steps from the entrance to a store and apartment building. A minute later he was admitted to an apartment on the third floor. Four men were at a table, playing cards. They greeted Carlo without warmth and went on with their game.

The garage man watched the play, glanced through a magazine and smoked a cigar. In half an hour a bell announced other callers in the vestibule downstairs, and the players finished their hand as a knock sounded on the apartment door. Carlo's two employees entered.

One of the men at the table remained at his place, idly shuffling the cards, while the others took seats about the room.

"I guess the meeting can come to order, eh?" said the man at the table. "Well, have you got things ready for the job?"

There was a moment's silence. Then:

"What's the use if we don't get any more than we have so far?" said Carlo.

"How's that?" asked the man at the table.

"Just look how little we get for the chances we take!" complained Carlo. "You guys aren't known out there; we are—we live there. And we get a handful of small change like you handed us after we stuck up the bridge party!"

The man at the table leaned forward.

"Pouting, are you?" he asked. "How big a cut do you think you're entitled to? How much do you think that jewelry brings in when we pass it to the dealers? And what do you mean, chances?

"We provide the cars, don't we? We do the jobs, don't we? You three guys sit outside, clean away from any trouble we might run into; you drive us to the place and away from it.

"I never should have listened to you in the first place. It costs us money to divide up with three more guys every time. The only reason I ever let you in at all was because you said you could find some important dough in your town. Important! You've brought us some heavy business, you have!

"I still get a laugh when I think of that Dog Wagon stickup. That was the night you were going to lead us to the late mail truck for that contractor's payroll. And you were wrong by an hour!

"That's the important money we've got by listening to you. And a lot of rings and vanity cases off the dames at the bridge party."

"Those rings were worth plenty!" said Carlo angrily.

"Yeah? We've made too many trips out in the country for nothing. If the town's so filthy rich, where do they hide the money?"

There was silence while Carlo considered the rebuke.

"Any more complaints?" the man at the table invited.

Carlo had none he cared to voice.

"Well, how about the bank, if that's what you came in to talk about," said the man. "Come up closer and let's see how it lays."

Carlo had made his way to the apartment alone rather than in the company of his two employees because there was always the slight but fatal chance of their being seen entering the rendezvous together. But he began the trip home in their car; he would leave them at the Junction and finish the trip by train.

He would have liked to know whether one of these two—or one of the four back in the apartment, for that matter—had been the author of the robbery of his own home.

Now in the car, he asked:

"Either of you fellows happen to be looking for me over at my house the other day? There was someone there, reason I ask; he didn't leave his name."

Had they analyzed the question, the two men would have suspected more than was on the surface.

But they were not analysts, and replied simply: "No."

They rode for some blocks in silence, and then one of the men remembered a casual incident.

"Your brother was at the shop looking for you the other day," he said. "Didn't say anything about going over to your house, though. He wouldn't leave a message; said he'd see you later. Have you seen him since then?"

In silence Carlo absorbed the potentialities of this information. There seemed to be only one answer. Tony was the housebreaker. Only Tony knew about the trunk—and nothing else had been taken! Tony, like himself, was a thief.

But there was no warmth in Carlo's heart. He was not preparing a fraternal welcome to his brother.

Large Canning Plant Is Burned

Associated Press

Monterey, Calif., Nov. 26.—Fire destroyed the Delmar Canning Company's sardine plant here yesterday with a loss estimated by officials at between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Acetanilid and phenacetin, as well as pyromidon, are constituents of many headache remedies which in sufficiently large doses will cause death. Besides measures usually employed in poisoning cases, it may be necessary in severe cases to use artificial respiration to force the breathing to continue.

Dr. M. Fishbein

In poisoning by strong alkalis, such as potash, lye and washing soda, the mouth and the stomach are burned and the tissues which have come in contact with the poison are likely to be destroyed. In such cases, use of the stomach tube is dangerous. Since weak acids tend to neutralize strong alkalis, these cases are treated by the physician with drinks of weak acid solutions. To protect the tisues, six or eight ounces of olive oil are given by mouth. In these cases it is usually customary, also, to protect the patient from collapse.

Boric acid in ordinary quantities is not a dangerous poison, but infants have been seriously poisoned by drinking boric acid solutions instead of water. A dose of 30 grams of borax also has been reported as being fatal to adults.

For this type of poisoning it is necessary to clean out the stomach and bowels as soon as possible, to give coffee for stimulation, and to protect the kidneys by giving fairly large doses of alkaline drinks.

Many poisons have special effects on the tissues by which the actions of these poisons are diagnosed. For instance, the taking of overdoses of quinine is marked by ringing in the ears, disturbances of vision and of hearing.

Strychnine causes convulsions and overemphasis in the nervous system. Thallium, which is a constituent of many rat poisons, causes all the hair to fall out and causes severe damage to the kidneys.

Phosphorus brings not only serious collapse, but a garlic taste in the mouth, burning pain and thirst, swelling of the abdomen and vomiting of blood.

In the dark, the material vomited by victims of phosphorus poisoning has a phosphorescent glow. Cyanides, turpentine, absinthe and sandalwood oil also leave characteristic breath odors. These odors will be promptly recognized by the doctor.

The extremely complicated descriptions given here, and the effects of the various poisons, should indicate how important it is to have a diagnosis made as soon as possible and, also, to have the correct type of medical attention before the damage has become too great.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1936

While benefic aspects dominate today, according to astrology, adverse influences are active. For important transactions the stars seem to presage delays that will prove fortunate in the end.

In the morning the planetary government is most favorable to women who will assume leadership in certain national movements and will organize for public service.

There is a forbidding sign for initiative except in love affairs. Venus today smiles upon young and old who pursue romance. Weddings are to be numerous next month.

Workers now should benefit through conferences or agreements with employers. Industrial unions are to gain rapidly in numbers, but warning is given against subversive influences.

The stars today encourage unity of thought and action. This planetary government should benefit both private and public interests. Also it should be favorable to domestic harmony.

While this configuration prevails it is favorable for asking favors or seeking aid. It is a fortunate day for reminding victorious candidates of pre-election promises.

Federal employees now should seek work in the business world. Drastic economic policies are forecast for government departments.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of gain and progress. They should avoid foolish extravagance. Mercenary women may disturb masculine admirers.

Children born on this day may be endowed with unusual traits as well as varied talents. Subjects of this sign often show persuasive strength in the use of words.

Fanny Kemble, actress, was born on this day, 1809. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday, include Samuel Dickey, theologian, 1772, and Robert R. Livingston, jurist and statesman, 1746.

Radio Board Personel Described

Mrs. McClung Asks Loyalty To Canadian Broadcasts

Gordon Head Current Events Club, at its meeting on Monday afternoon, was especially honored in being the first to receive Mrs. R. W. McClung's impressions of the new Canadian Radio Corporation and its personnel. She described Mr. Gladstone Murray as a dynamic personality, a native son of British Columbia of whom all may be very proud. Mr. Brockington is an after-dinner speaker of great wit and charm. He said in his recent radio broadcast that radio should be a healing and consoling thing, and if not that, it fails; that the new corporation should be shackled by nothing but decency, and that they should be intolerant of nothing but intolerance, she noted.

Mrs. McClung asked for loyalty to Canadian broadcasts, that they be listened to. They are hoping for longer hours of broadcasting, morning programmes for women and broadcasts for children. The broadcasting is financed by the radio fees.

Miss Oldfield of the Saanich Welfare Association gave a very clear account of the work, which was started by Reeve Crouch in 1930. The speaker emphasized the small overhead expense, the only paid person being the secretary.

The work could not carry on without the splendid co-operation of the working groups. The Women's Workroom is a great help through exchange of articles, the Red Cross a splendid aid, and the proceeds of the Saanich police ball helps to solve the shoe problem. The work of the reeve in collecting money for the Christmas hamper fund was specially mentioned, 498 hampers being sent out last year. Mrs. Peter McNaughton, who presided, expressed the gratitude of Gordon Head to Miss Oldfield for her splendid work on the board.

Mrs. McClung reviewed briefly Maurice O'Sullivan's book, "Twenty Years a-Growing," and read poems by the late Wilhelmina Stitch and Audrey Alexander Brown, after which there was an informal discussion.

Mrs. J. W. Bishop sang three charming solos, "Yonder," and by special resuest two songs composed by her accompanist, Mrs. E. G. Paddon, "Dance of the Fairies" and "Sandman."

Mr. John Kyle, director of technical education, will be the guest speaker at the next meeting.

Mary McCormic Wed Yesterday

Kansas City, Nov. 26.—Mary McCormic, the opera singer, and Homer V. Johannsen, a Chicago lawyer, were married here today by Justice of the Peace Joseph J. Dougherty.

The singer gave her age as thirty-seven, the bridegroom gave his as thirty-five.

Miss McCormic divorced the late Prince Serge Mdivani three years ago.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

The regular meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.A. was held recently with the president, Alan Paver, in the chair. The meeting opened with prayer, which was followed by some very interesting motion pictures shown by Art and "Chuck" Chapman, of the trip of the Canadian Olympic team, starting from Montreal and ending with the games at Berlin. Archie McKinnon gave an address on "The Olympic Games." This talk reviewed the Olympics of 1932 at Los Angeles, Cal., continuing on to the games at Berlin this year. He also dealt with the relation of international sports to world peace.

The winners of the telephone bridge were as follows: Ladies' first, Mrs. Lane, 1468 Begbie Street; ladies' consolation, Mrs. Cobbett, 2266 Shakespeare Street; gents' first, Mr. J. G. Mitchell, Sidney, B.C., and gents' consolation, Mr. John Hooper, 410 Oswego Street.

Thanks were extended to Mesdames Harrison, Paver, Laver, Hooper and Creelman; Misses Crockett and Jeeves, and Messrs. Hall and Walker for loaning their homes for the various parties.

Hard-time Dance Was Enjoyable

On Monday night the K. of P. Hall, 1415 Broad Street, was the scene of a successful hard-time dance when an enjoyable evening was spent by members and friends of the Victoria Chapter No. 25 Women of the Moose. A buffet supper was served by Mrs R. Panting, Mrs. A. Hatcher Jr., Mrs. A. Hatcher Sr., Mrs. I. Bohannon, Mrs. N. Augustine, Mrs. S. Harrison and Miss D. Guelpa. Mrs. E. Cowden was at the receipt of customs. Prior to the dance the chapter held a short meeting at 7.30 o'clock, with Senior Regent P. Huckin presiding. Sick matron Mrs. R. Panting reported Mesdames and C. Drysdale on the sick list. A hearty vote of thanks were extended to Mrs. H. Parker for the loan of her home for the successful card party held recently, also to Mrs. A. Hatcher for the splendid report on same.

After discussion, a letter was forwarded to Deputy Grand Regent E. Deane, to present a resolution concerning the lowering of dues of social members on her visit to the Pilgrim Governors Conference to be held in Seattle December 6, at which Senator James J. Davis, founder of Moosehearst, will preside. Membership committee reported several prospects in view for new members. The apron social arranged for next meeting has been canceled till after Christmas.

Maple Leaf Legion No. 53 extends a cordial invitation to members and friends to attend their regular whist drive at the home of Mr. H. Cox, 1043 Richardson Avenue, on Friday night, November 27, also on Monday evening, December 14, in the hall commencing at 8 p.m., a very entertainment evening is in store for all who attend, and will be in charge of Lodge 1390.

The next business meeting will be on Monday, December 14, to commence at 7.30 p.m., in order to be finished in time for concert and entertainment planned by the lodge.

Jubilee W.A. Plan Shower

Plans for the annual linen shower on Thursday, February 4, were made at a meeting of the Jubilee Hospital Women's Auxiliary yesterday afternoon at the Nurses' Home, the first vice-president, Mrs. L. G. W. Tallamy, presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. Phethean.

Mrs. P. E. Taylor reported the sum of $21 in membership dues received from Mesdames R. W. Gibson, J. J. Collison, A. Edgelow, R. T. Elliott, S. Pickles, W. H. Logan, G. H. Barnard, A. Meharey, J. G. MacFarlane, H. R. Beaven and S. J. Curry.

Mrs. Henry Heisterman reported two successful sewing meetings in November and 115 pieces completed. Mrs. Vaughan Roberts gave a report of the British Columbia hospitals convention. Miss Mitchell's request for flannelette for the fourth floor was granted. Arrangements were made for Christmas cheer for the patients, and Mrs. E. H. Griffiths was appointed convener.

A letter of thanks for the gift of $1,000 for the new operating table was read from the board of directors.

Lord Harewood In Barbados

Bridgetown, Barbados, Nov. 28.—The Earl of Harewood, brother-in-law of the King, arrived here yesterday aboard the steamship Colombia, and will be the guest of Governor Sir Mark A. Young for two weeks.

The earl will look over plantations at Mount Air Belle, the property of the second son, Hon. Edward Lascelles.

This island has a 200-year-old connection with the Lascelles family. The father of the First Earl of Harewood, Edward Lascelles, was one time collector of customs at Barbados and married a daughter of Guy Ball, a Barbadian.

Irish Star And Wife Reconciled

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 26. — Lili Damita and Errol Flynn packed a sprig of mistletoe in their baggage today and set out on a "honeymoon—deferred but preferred."

Married a year, they were reported by friends to be considering a divorce last week. But last night they announced their reconciliation.

The blonde Parisienne and the dashing Irish actor are flying today to New York, where they will sail soon for Europe, not to return until next year.

It is Flynn's first real vacation since he won stardom in "Captain Blood." For his work in the recent "Charge of the Light Brigade," he has a new long-term contract.

NEW BEAUTY QUICKLY

—This easy safe way

Softens and refines skin texture; Helps correct ugly skin flaws

HERE'S a wonderful new aid to beauty! A new method of softening and refining the texture of your skin—an aid to healing and correcting Blackheads, Large Pores, Pimples and other beauty-marring skin flaws.

Over 12,000,000 jars of this famous medicated cream, Noxzema, are now used yearly! Doctors first prescribed Noxzema for Burns, Eczema and other skin troubles. Nurses discovered how marvelous Noxzema is for Chapped Hands and for Poor Complexions. Today millions of women use Noxzema instead of ordinary night creams and foundation creams.

Make this test

If you want a clearer, softer, lovelier complexion—if your skin is rough, Chapped or marred by Large Pores, Blackheads, Pimples—then try Noxzema Cream for 10 days and see what a difference it makes.

Apply Noxzema at night after removing make-up. Wash off in the morning, then apply cold water or ice. Apply Noxzema again as a powder base. Noxzema is mildly astringent, reduces enlarged pores—its gentle medication soothes and softens skin, aids Nature in healing skin back to normal healthy beauty.

TRIAL OFFER. So that you can see for yourself how wonderful Noxzema is, all local drug and department stores this week are offering a generous 25¢ size jar for only 15¢. Get one of these trial jars today.

Woman Slept Thirty-two Years

Kept Alive Only By Daily Rations Of Milk

Stockholm, Nov. 26.—Waking after being asleep for thirty-two years, a Swedish woman, now seventy-five, was found crawling on the floor near her bed crying, "Where's Mammy?"

The cause of the woman's long sleep was a skating accident. She complained of a headache on her return from the ice and was put to bed.

Showing no signs of waking after ten years, she was taken to hospital, where she slept for a further twenty-two years.

The woman is Miss Karoline Karlsson of Monsteras, aged seventy-five. She has known only forty-three years of life, so she insisted that her birthday cake should have only this number of candles when she celebrated her birthday recently.

Her case attracted scientists, doctors and pressmen from all parts of the world.

No medical man could do anything for her, and during her thirty-two years' sleep she was kept alive on two glasses of milk every day.

On only three occasions during that time was she known to speak.

When found to have wakened she was put back to bed and has regained health and strength.

News of Clubwomen

Presbyterial Executive — The monthly meeting of the Presbyterial executive of the Presbyterian W.M.S. will be held on Friday at 3 o'clock at the St. Andrew's lecture hall.

Lodge Met — Princess Alexandra Daughters of England held its meeting in the S.O.E. Hall, Mrs. Allen, W.P., presiding. Much business was transacted and good reports of the silver tea and bazaar were given. The next meeting will be December 3.

W.I. Bazaar—The Victoria Women's Institute will hold a bazaar and exhibition of handicrafts tomorrow afternoon, in the vacant store at 637 Fort Street. Many attractive articles will be available for Christmas gifts, and it is hoped members and friends will patronize the affair.

Job's Daughters—The regular meeting of Job's Daughters will be held this evening at 7.30 o'clock, in the Shrine Hall, to be followed by a bridge and court whist party at 8.30 o'clock. Admission will be charged. Prizes will be awarded the winners at cards and refreshments will be served.

Orange Juveniles—Pride of Victoria No. 55 Orange Juvenile Association will hold their regular meeting in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street, on Saturday at 2.30 o'clock. All members are asked to be present. Mrs. F. W. Laing will give a talk on "Travels." Members of the L.O.B.A. adult lodges are invited. Members of No. 55 are asked to bring refreshments.

Esquimalt Bazaar—The Christmas bazaar of the Esquimalt United Church will be held in the Sunday school hall, Thursday evening, December 3, at 7.30 p.m. The bazaar will be opened by Mrs. Coone of Regina. There will be stalls of plain sewing, home cooking, candy, novelties and bran tubs for the children. A musical programme will be presented during the evening.

Party Postponed—Owing to unforeseen circumstances, the court whist social to have been held in the auditorium, 715 View Street, this evening, by the Women's Auxiliary to Britannia Branch, No. 7, Canadian Legion, has been postponed until December 3 at 8 p.m. Prizes will be given and refreshments served. The officers are advised that an executive meeting will be held on December 3 at 7 p.m. instead of at 2.30 p.m.

St. Aidan's Tillicums—St. Aidan's Tillicum Club met for their weekly meeting in the Assembly Hall of the church. After a devotional period, the president, Miss Barbara Dawson introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. Harry Thompsett of the Canadian Legion, who gave an interesting and educational talk on his recent trip to Vimy, illustrated with moving pictures. On behalf of the society, Bob Clark moved a hearty vote of thanks. Rev. T. G. Griffiths closed the evening with the benediction.

Queen Back In Home She Knew As A Bride

Marlborough House, traditional London home for widows of English kings, where Queen Mary has taken up her abode.

London, Nov. 26. — The widowed Queen Mary has comfortably settled down in Marlborough House and with the official period of mourning for King George V ended, has resumed her usual round of royal tasks.

Marlborough House simply has become the traditional home of widowed Queens of England and it was immediately after the funeral of King George that it was announced that Queen Mary would move into Marlborough House as soon as necessary repairs could be completed.

COST $250,000 ORIGINALLY

Marlborough House is one of the handsome red brick buildings conceived by the great Sir Christopher Wren, architect of St. Paul's Cathedral. It was built in 1709 in the palmy days of that great General Churchill, who became First Duke of Marlborough. His wife, the celebrated Sarah, wanted the house as close to St. James's Palace as possible, right near "Neighbor George," as she called the sovereign.

It cost $250,000—a tremendous price in those days. Many years later, when it was bought for the Crown, the price was $1,000,000. The Duchess lived there long after her husband died. In fact, until her own death in 1744.

The first royalty to live there was Princess Charlotte, only daughter and heiress presumptive to King George IV. She married in 1816 to Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg and they moved into Marlborough House at once. She died in 1817 and that demise opened the way to the throne for the future Queen Victoria. Prince Leopold lived there until 1831. He was the well-beloved "Uncle Leopold of Queen Victoria and later became King of the Belgiums.

THIRD QUEEN LIVING THERE

When George IV died, Queen Adelaide, his widow, moved into Marlborough House in 1837. In 1863 the house, was occupied by the then Prince and Princess of Wales, afterwards King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra.

It was their home until their accession to the throne in 1901, and here the late King George V was born and here Queen Mary lived when George was Prince of Wales. When King Edward VII died, Queen Alexandra moved back from Buckingham Palace to Marlborough House. And that is what Queen Mary has just done, thus being the third widowed Queen to occupy the place in this century.

HOUSES ANTIQUE COLLECTION

For her it has always seemed more like home than Buckingham Palace or Windsor Castle or Balmoral. It is smaller and more comfortable. Many of the carpets, curtains and hangings of crimson which were in the place twenty-six years ago when she lived there, were put in storage when she moved to Buckingham Palace. They have now been put back into use, being practically as good as new.

Being more home-like, one of the amenities of the place is its lovely four-acre garden right in the heart of London, giving privacy and quiet. Nothing is on a vast palace scale. The dining-room, where guests can be entertained, only seats forty-five. The drawing-room which leads out from it, can accommodate about twenty-five couples in dances. Upstairs, where the Queen will spend most of her time, there is a small private dining-room for her own use, her study, her boudoir, and bedroom.

Most of the furniture is her own property, which she collected at various times during her long married life. One of her greatest problems was to find place to display her very large collection of antiques and art objects. She has for years been a famous collector and is known as a connoisseur. To this she has recently added a new hobby—collecting books and pictures dealing with the history of Marlborough House.

It will probably be still some time before the Queen is seen at theatres and the movies, but she has already begun visiting hospitals, flower shows and other affairs at which, before her bereavement, she was always a central figure. She is a frequent guest at Buckingham Palace.

Evangelist In Slander Suit

Aimee McPherson Sued By Associate Pastor

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Nov. 26 — Long-smouldering hostility between Aimee Semple McPherson, world-famous evangelist, and Rheba Crawford, once "The Angel of Broadway," flared in court today.

Miss Crawford filed suit for $1,080,000 damages, alleging she was slandered by Mrs. McPherson. Only two years ago, the former New York Salvation Army worker resigned as state director of social welfare to become co-pastor of Angelus Temple.

Recently notified by the temple that her $600 monthly contract as associate pastor was at an end, Miss Crawford alleges in her suit that she was referred to by Mrs. McPherson as mistress of a high state official, a jezebel, a thief and a conspirator. The complaint quotes Mrs. McPherson:

"I am going to do something about this jezebel. She may have been good enough to have been a high state official's mistress, but no woman of her kind is going to use my platform, use my money and wreck my temple and get away with it."

Another quotation attributed to the pastor of Angelus Temple was that "a certain person embezzled plenty of money from the temple when I was away and so did Rheba. She is playing the same game. Talk about Capone or Dillinger, Miss Crawford is as bad as either one. She has a gang in the temple here equal to either of theirs."

Indian's Death Was Accidental

Port Alberni, Nov. 26.—An inquest was held Tuesday afternoon on the body of an Indian fisherman, Andrew Moses, who was found drowned near the city float. Dr. C. T. Hilton was the coroner in charge.

A verdict of accidental drowning was returned. Investigation brought out the facts that Moses was resident on the Sareta reservation, Barkley Sound, and employed on the fishing boat Newcastle No. 4.

Duchess Sets New Style In Hats

Duchess of Gloucester At Tea For Girls' Hip Brigade

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 26.—The Duchess of Gloucester set a new fashion in hats when attending a tea and reception of the Girls' Life Brigade at the Cutlers' Hall, London. This was her first meeting with officers and girls since she became patron of the brigade a few months ago.

The Duchess wore an ankle-length frock of silver georgette crepe with a gracefully draped neckline. With this she wore a tiny circular skull-cap of grey stitched velvet with scalloped edges coming to a little point in the centre of the crown rather like an inverted harebell.

Two hundred officers and eighty girls from all parts of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales were waiting to greet the Duchess, who remained with them for about an hour.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MOTHER, DON'T LET YOUR CHILD MAKE YOU A QUESTION-AND ANSWER MACHINE!

"Mommy, why does it get cold in winter?"

"Because we're farther from the sun, I suppose."

"Why are we farther from the sun?"

"Because the earth is turning around all the time and sometimes one part of it is near the sun and sometimes another part. Here—let me show you! This orange is the earth and this lamp is the sun. See how when I turn it the light shines first here, then here?"

"But what makes it turn around?"

"Mercy me—I don't know. Ask your father. I can't be bothered any more this morning. You're just a question machine."

AIMLESS QUESTIONS

We've all been through it! Mothers find that the things they take so much for granted inspire the curious young to questions. It is important that the mother find a satisfying answer if the child wants it and is ready for it. She can, if she will hunt for it.

But too often the mother hunts diligently, while the child listens with deaf ears, waiting only for a pause in which he can insert an aimless "Why?" or "What for?"

TO ATTRACT MOTHER

Parents ought to be alert to the moment when interest ceases and the child's object is not to get an answer, but to keep his parent's attention.

The busy mother who is intent upon her own work or interests and stops to listen only when the child asks a question which she feels she must answer conscientiously, actually encourages these aimless "What fors?" because only by such means can the child enjoy the mother's undivided attention.

RETURN THE QUESTION

Questions do indicate the child's thirsty search for knowledge, and shutting off important questions is a mistake. But when questioning takes the form of a dreamy, "What for?" or "Why?" with no particular interest in the answer, turn the question backward toward the child and say to him, "You tell me." No method so quickly ends thoughtless questioning.

"Children's Questions" is the title of a special leaflet Mrs. Eldred has prepared which may be had for a 3-cent stamped self-addressed envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Mother May Be More Childish Than Her Child in Enforcing Implicit Obedience."

Letters to the Editor

FROM A GRATEFUL MOTHER

To the Editor:—May I, through your columns, offer to the officer of the Restorer my thanks and appreciation of his kindness in taking my twelve-year-old son on board, tucking him into bed, while he dried the boy's clothes, after he had received a bad ducking from falling out of a rowboat into deep water.

I was away from home at the time, so it is doubtful that otherwise the child would have received proper care, and I feel deeply grateful that he was no doubt safeguarded from a serious illness.

DISAGREES ON SPAIN

To the Editor:—Again you editorially remark on "the government elected by a majority of the people in Spain." It is consoling to know that there are in Canada daily newspapers which show more insight into the Spanish situation and which have truer notions of democracy. The Ottawa Journal, in an editorial dealing with Spain, makes the following statement:

"The government at Madrid may be a constitutional government—technically. But to argue that it is representative of the majority of the people of Spain, that this is a war between the 'Spanish people' and a military junta employing foreign troops and foreign guns, is to stretch the truth.

"The last election in Spain was on February 16, 1936. This was the result:

Total votes	9,408,513
Parties of the Right	4,570,744
Parties of the Left	4,356,559
Basque Nationalists	141,137
Other Centrists	340,075

"Adding the 340,000 Centrist votes to the 4,570,000 Rightists, without including the Basque Nationalists (mostly Catholics) the total of non-Left and anti-Left votes runs up to 4,910,000, which is more than 500,000 more than those for the Left, or Peoples' Front. The Left won the election on the strength of a peculiar proportional representation way of counting votes.

"This being the truth, it is difficult for the most ardent democratic sympathizer to be moved by the claim that what is being witnessed in Spain is a military junta of adventurers, aided by foreign Fascists, crushing the people of Spain. Obviously there are millions of the Spanish people on the side of the 'Junta'."—Ottawa Journal, October 30, 1936.

NOT QUITE GOOD ENOUGH

To the Editor:—Unless the mayor's office is to become an "hereditary chamber," I think it about time that a change was effected as to its occupant. Many of the over-burdened taxpayers of this city who have been endeavoring to retain possession of their homes, expressed very pronounced opposition to the proposal of Mayor Leeming and his entourage invading London at such a huge expense, when they were quite sure that if any relief could be secured such might just as easily be obtained by the expenditure of a three-cent stamp.

A Vancouver daily paper had this amusing reference to the Mayor's arrival in that city on his return from abroad: "Mayor Leeming of Victoria arrived in the city this morning. His Worship wore a natty grey suit, smart black overcoat, and a grey fedora hat; he stepped off the train jauntily swinging his cane and smiling cheerfully. To our reporter he expressed himself as well satisfied with his trip and had high hopes that some relief would be afforded Victoria by the bondholders concerned."

Now, Mr. Editor, with all due respect to His Worship, that does not seem quite good enough. He had hopes before he started, and he returns after heavy expenditure bringing his hopes with him.

Mayor Leeming has had five years in office. A good many ratepayers think this five years too long. I have heard him described as "an ornament to the city," but it seems to me, sir, that we have already too many ornaments here already, and if we are not to become like the elevator, woolen mill, etc., the sooner we elect a "worker" instead of "an ornament," the sooner will Mayor Leeming's hopes be realized.

Surely, there is someone thus fit ready to serve!

THIS IS THE WAY TO HAPPINESS

There's nothing—absolutely nothing—to take the place of perfect health as the foundation of a happy life. And no better way for every one to get it than to turn to that famous tonic wine, Wincarnis.

Wincarnis is not a drug. It is simply the purest of fine wine with all the valuable properties of the 2½ lbs. of grapes which go to every bottle, combined with the strengthening elements of beef and guaranteed vitamin malt extracts.

From your first glass of Wincarnis you will feel new vigour stealing through your veins. You will sleep more soundly, wake more refreshed. In a few days you will have forgotten the irritableness of your former half-well state. You will go through the most strenuous day at the top of your form. Twenty thousand doctors have recommended Wincarnis for nervous disorder, pale complexion, debility, and all run-down conditions. Start taking—and enjoying—Wincarnis today, and get on the high-road of health. Your druggist sells Wincarnis.—Sales Agents: Harold F. Ritchie & Co. Ltd., Toronto.

RUBBER INDUSTRY'S IMPORTANCE

To the Editor:—I read your paper each day and I see lots of market quotations, New York, Vancouver, London, Liverpool, but I never see any price for "the world's basic industry," that is rubber. The price of standard crepe, London or New York, Reuters have it every day.

Without rubber no motors would be on the roads, no insulation for electric wires and so no electricity, no rubber gloves for surgeons, so no operations. Rubber gloves are used almost entirely in the fruit canning industry, and rubber is used in most ball games. What would the old ladies do without their hot water bottles, or half the world without the waterproofs in winter time?

AS BETWEEN HISTORIANS

To the Editor:—A local lecturer says in Friday's Times that "but for Sir James Douglas, this country today would have been under the Stars and Stripes, and there would have been no British flag on this side of the Pacific."

However, study of the genuine history of the time of Sir James Douglas, shows the British were no more likely to abandon their flag on this coast than they are likely to abandon it today.

An official Crown Colony (not merely fur-trading establishments) was set up on this coast soon after the British took official possession, and it flourished continuously before Douglas came on the scene.

Douglas was a good governor. His predecessors were equally good governors. Why not keep their memory green?

Our romantic history is well worth study, particularly between the years 1795 and 1820.

"MORE USEFUL THAN RELIGION"

To the Editor:—Here is a poem written by Alan Davenport about a century ago, entitled "What Is God?"

You ask me what is God? and I
Am no way puzzled to reply:
My inward lights so clearly shine
The heavenly things I can define
Although but a finite creature.

Whatever can be seen or felt,
Whatever can be heard or smelt,
Whatever can be tasted, and
All that the mind can understand,
All that our wisdom can conceive,
All that in which we can believe,
All o'er which fancy ever trod
Is Nature—all the rest is God.

I clipped the above lines from your Saturday, November 21 issue. They were quoted by a friend of mine, Mr. John McDermott, in a letter headed, "More Useful Than Religion." Here is a "counter-blast." Perhaps Mr. McDermott would like to send these lines that follow to some other friend of his who loves "the truth"—and therefore lives and teaches it—mayhap some Doctor of Philosophy in a Bolshevic University of Atheism, where "Stalin alone is God." If they don't rhyme, I'm sorry. But the gist of this thing is too abominable for fine verse and pretty words: it smells of the "Open Sepulchre."

"Wisdom Is God and God Is Love."
". . . have said in their heart, 'There is no God.'
They have feared a great fear where no fear was." (Psalm liii 1-2.)
All nature hems thee round: science explores
Her laws: and "that is all." "The rest" is God—
A "minus" sign! Go to, thou fool! Who brought Thee forth, gave thee a mother's care, a mind,
A personality? Wisdom, and will
To know and do what's right? Enumerate
Thy stuff, both seen and unseen, thyself relate:
The "whole" is "holy," God: "the rest" negation.

Whose empty lips do say "There's nothing more—
No God," his very heart and mind do spell
Him liar, in his teeth. Trace back thy birth's
Ancestral mystery: from plasmic slime
In primal days of genesis, the germ
That now is thee began its life from God's How came our Darwin's glorious mind? Who gave Him will and pertinacity (his saints
Do persevere) to sound abysmal deeps
Where lie the hidden springs of life? To prove
That order, beauty, light and love—these four,
That we today call "evolution,"

Are conquering, as the ages pass, despair,
And formless emptiness—old chaos self—
That light doth shine at dawn—though black be night—
And darkness flee away; that God is light—Transcendently.
. . . Now who, say ye, did lie?
Darwin or Davenport?
God's Word—His science—stand,
Finis? Not quite. For what of us poor worms?

NOEL

The time draws nigh to worship One who came
In flesh of ours. A winter's night—a shed—
Cattle and sheep about His stall—a maid
And mother too, and in her lovely arms
Lies He "in the beginning God" and now
Our Master. Love and He are one, are all.

DISARMAMENT AND SOCIAL CREDIT

To the Editor:—At this Armistice-tide, when the thoughts of most are centred on war and peace I feel constrained to put before your readers what from long thought and study I have become convinced will do more than almost anything else to remove the scourge of strife and armaments from the world.

It is a truism to say remove the causes of war and you will eliminate war.

One of the chief causes of war is the present very keen competition for foreign markets. Every industrial nation is now strenuously striving to obtain a favorable balance of trade; that is, to export more goods than it imports. For every nation to do this is an impossibility; therefore, some will be forced to lose out in this game. Those who lose, very possibly will, if powerful enough, give up playing the game and resort to force, in order to obtain a preponderance in the few remaining good export markets.

Now why is it that industrial nations are so anxious to obtain this favorable balance of trade? Simply this: The total income of any industrial nation, under our present financial system, is never sufficient to buy its total output at the moment. This has been proved without a doubt by Major Douglas and many other experts. This is a permanent defect in the present price system; and it causes a gradual accumulation of unbought goods, which the people at home want, but have not the money to buy. Therefore, these goods have to find a market abroad, or their producers will lose money. The new financial system, propounded by Major Douglas and known as Social Credit recognizes this defect and is designed to right it. Social Credit by creating new money in equivalent amounts to surplus and new production, and by issuing this new money direct to the consumer instead of to the producer as new bank money is under our present system through a national dividend and discount will enable the people at home to buy all the wanted production of their productive machinery. This will do away with the urgent necessity for a favorable balance of trade. Thus it will eliminate this very potent cause of war.

Under Social Credit foreign trade will be what it should be, the free interchange of surplus or indigenous goods between nations for their mutual advantage. Under this system trade will make friends, not enemies as now.

Another potent cause of war is hate, especially class hatred. Social Credit will in large measure remove class hatred, because it will remove the chief cause, and only justification for this rapidly growing evil. This cause and justification is poverty amidst actual and potential plenty. Social Credit will remove this by the dividend and discount; by this means making every citizen of the nation a direct participant in its prosperity. Now the more peaceful both at home and abroad a nation is, the more prosperous it is; therefore the higher the dividend will be. The realization of this fact will make even the most unintelligent citizen see that his own prosperity is bound up with that of the nation.

OAK BAY RELIEF

To the Editor:—In a report of the Trades and Labor Council's meeting held on Wednesday, November 18, which appeared in the press on Friday, November 20, it was stated that the council would communicate with the Board of Industrial Relations and the Oak Bay Municipal Council regarding Section 232A of the Municipal Act.

It is about time that such an investigation be made into matters which seemingly are kept secret or the general public are ignorant of such existing laws.

For example, Section 232A, recently amended to the Municipal Act, states that any water arrears owing over two years may be legally transfererd to the property tax, whereby property owners on relief (one in Oak Bay) who has not fallen in arrears on his taxes, but who has water arrears, will have his home put in the tax sale. Why Oak Bay should use this act as a power in order to collect its arrears, especially taking great care to make an example of a relief man, heaven alone knows.

The Council has managed in the past year and a half to collect (they claim that they do not deduct from the relief man's envelope) $1.50 each month.

Cannot they be satisfied with the current month's bills and abolish arrears in view of the fact that their financial burdens have been lightened to a certain degree by the recent action of the government taking over the social costs. After all, Oak Bay has been very fortunate in having a very small percentage of the unemployed on their rolls, but heaven help that poor, but select group, who are forced to accept help from Oak Bay.

BRITISHERS AND B.-I. LAW

To the Editor:—Much has been written concerning "The Law," far removed from the main issue of the correspondence relative to the claims of British-Israel. Permit me, therefore, to call attention to that issue once more. The question is: Should the British people cease to make laws (in Victoria, Ottawa and London, as it has been publicly stated in this city) and put into practice the Law as given by Moses to the Children of Israel?

It has been alleged that the calamities which have befallen our nation are the outcome of our people having turned from the Law of God and having made their own laws. Without here seeking to controvert the unproven claim that the Englishman is an Israelite, let me direct attention to indisputable evidence which precludes the idea that "all we have to do is to go back to the Law given to the Israelites." That evidence is to be found in the Book which Mr. Blackaller, Mr. Springett and others have declared, here in Victoria, to be the one Book on which they base their claims. Jesus taught: "Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets; I am come not to destroy, but to fulfill." To "fulfill" involved more than to keep. He both kept the Law and fulfilled it. Paul, therefore, wrote: "Christ is the end of the Law for righteousness." Romans x 4.

Those of the B.-I. persuasion, who want Englishmen to go back to the Law, should ponder over Acts xv 24: "Forasmuch as we have heard, that certain which went out from us have troubled you with words, subverting your souls, saying, Ye must be circumcized, and keep the law; to which we gave no such commandment." Going back to the law is a retrograde movement, if we accept the light of the sacred page. "Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law . . . for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified." Gal. ii 16. Why not, Paul? Because Jesus "abolished in his flesh the enmity, the law of comandments in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, making peace." Eph. ii 15.

Christ as the end of the law is further elaborated in Col. ii 14: "Blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to His cross." Peter endorses Paul, when he met the spirit of retrogression in his day with the challenge, "Why tempt ye God, to put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples, which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear?" Acts xv 10.

To those who say, Go back to the law—down through the ages comes back the retort, "The law made nothing perfect." Heb. vii 19. To the Galatians, Paul wrote, "Be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. Christ is become of no effect unto you, whosoever of you are justified by the law; ye are fallen from grace." "How turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?" "Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them."

Such are a few of the decrees found in the statute book upon which British-Israelites profess to base their claims, but which, obviously, do not justify their contention of "back to the law."

COMMUNISM'S WORKINGS

To the Editor:—When anyone endeavors to point out the manner in which international Communism operates and the aid—clearly amounting to more than mere moral support—which is extended when necessity calls, to the fifty-two Communist parties established in the various countries of the world, such a person is invariably denounced in fierce language by those who do not wish such truths to become known. However, despite this, allow me to briefly mention Spain, the country which offers the latest example of the manner in which Communism, directed and controlled from the Soviet Union, operates in other lands.

Russian ships laden with supplies and ammunition, Russian soldiers, many of whom were unable to speak a word of Spanish; Russian tanks and airplanes, Russian military experts and instructors, Russian money—all these and more have poured into Spain from the Soviet Union in recent weeks and go far towards proving that Communism is not merely international in its workings, but is essentially a Russian-promoted and directed scheme. When it was perceived that the Spanish prize was being stolen away, when the tide turned and Rebels had Reds on the run, then Communism was revealed as never before—a completely Russian subsidized affair—the branches of which could (as in the case of Spain) call to Soviet Russia for aid and get it. From Sovietland to the Madrid Reds, that aid has been sent. One nation has already accused Russia of aiding Spain on at least twenty distinct occasions during October.

For a while when the schemes of the Moscow masterminds worked and their Communist powers in Spain were successful in capturing power by a variety of methods from the Spanish republican regime, there was no need for Soviet Russia to expose her hand in the deal. The Russian emissary, Litvinoff, informed a rather dubious world at Geneva that Russia was "neutral" like the other nations, that she had nothing whatever to do with the activities of the Spanish Communists. But when those same Spanish revolutionaries were struck by adversity, how quickly Soviet Russia dropped her pretense at "neutrality" and came out boldly and defiantly in support of the Red faction in Spain!

Soviet Russia has too great a stake in Spain, has sunk too much into the Spanish venture to refrain from giving direct assistance when the need arises. The destruction of the Madrid "Red" government would strike a shattering moral blow at the structure of international Communism. Hence, Russia's concern over the present situation. Victory for the Communists in Spain, on the other hand, would mean another Soviet government to work with Red Russia and under its direction for the further extension of international Communist control.

And what is the ultimate objective of this international, though essentially Moscow-directed Communism? A quotation from the records of the United States Congress will answer this: "The ultimate and final objective (of Communism) is by means of world revolution to establish . . . one world union of Soviets with the capital at Moscow."

Plans Advance For California-British Columbia Cricket Tour

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

FAILURE of Southern California to stage a complete comeback this season, win the Pacific Coast Conference championship, and appear in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day can in a large measure be traced to Howard Jones's faith in the unit system.

Using two seperate combinations, Southern California at no time did field its strongest available offensive force. Schooled observers agree that the pick of the party would have been the equal of any outfit in the land.

Jones is expected to depart from the unit idea following his club's defeats by California and Washington.

Three injuries broke up Southern California's senior combination in the Washington game, in which the Huskies were without Byron Haines. The most dangerour runner on the western slope was on the sidelines with a wrenched knee.

Washington is expected to repel Washington State in Seattle today and thus qualify for the big show at Pasadena.

It is tough to gain consistently through a big and fast Washington line led by Max Starcevich, a guard. Wiatrak, centre, and Peters, end, stood out against the Trojans.

Jimmy Phelan has the finest backfield set-up on the coast. Three fast-running backs are very good at throwing and receiving passes. Two capable fullbacks are tremendous factors on the attack and keep the defence tightened up. In addition to being the foremost kicker on the coast, Quarterback Logg is a superlative blocker and pass receiver.

Washington is considered one of the more polished teams employing the Notre Dame style. It has the most versatile attack on the coast. The Huskies' assortment includes very good flanker plays with many laterals and forwards keeping the defence spread. Reverses, spinners, and line bucking mixed with this keep the defence in a turmoil.

With two of the leading candidates for the invitation coached by Notre Dame products—Jimmy Crowley at Fordham and Frank Thomas at Alabama—the Tournament of Roses battle may have an all-South Bend flavor.

Knute Rockne taught chemistry and assisted Jesse Harper with the Irish varsity during Phelan's playing days at South Bend. Phelan was the teammate of Charley Bachman of Michigan State, Jack Meagher of Auburn, and Slip Madigan of Saint Mary's. He captained the 1917 team which introduced the immortal George Gipp.

Phelan was called by Washington in 1930 after enjoying much success at Purdue.

Thomas was one of the first Rockne-developed coaches. He played quarterback in 1921 and 1922. Of the 1921 array, which included Paul Castner and Johnny Mohardt, Dr. Eddie Anderson now coaches Holy Cross, Harry Mehre tutors Georgia, Chet Wynne is head man at Kentucky, and Tom Lieb directs Loyola of Los Angeles.

Elmer Layden, now in charge at his alma mater, Crowley, Noble Kizer of Purdue, Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin, Adam Walsh of Bowdoin, and Don Miller made their bows on the Notre Dame varsity of 1922.

Joe Bach, formerly of Duquesne and now of the Pittsburgh National League professionals, came along in 1923, and Joe Boland, the Notre Dame line coach, in 1924, when the Four Horsemen rode.

Notre Dame has contributed much to football and it would be fitting for the teams of two of its more prominent sons to scrap it out in the Rose Bowl, where Sleepy Jim Crowley played his last game.

Three Provincial Teams Scheduled To Play in South

B.C. Elevens to Make Trip in August and September After Californians' Visit

Financing Plans Being Made Today

Negotiations were proceeding today between Ainslie Helmcken, secretary of the Victoria and District Cricket Association, and private interests to arrange sponsorship for three British Columbia elevens scheduled to play a series of exhibition games against California teams during August and September next year.

Results of today's arrangements will be reported to the association at its annual meeting on Tuesday, Mr. Helmcken reported.

Present plans call for three teams, one from Victoria, one from Vancouver and a third from outside points in the province, for a mass invasion of the Sunshine State. Matches are scheduled tentatively with San Francisco both on the way down and on the return, with teams in Pasadena, Hollywood, Venice and probably San Diego.

There are sixteen teams in California at the present time, officials of the local association have been informed, and strong club elevens will be chosen from them for the fixtures in the various centres.

FEATURE MATCH

A highlight of the playing tour will be an all-star game between the pick of the Californians and a representative British Columbia team chosen from the three sides which will be traveling.

Provincial players look forward to meeting such outstanding California cricketers as C. Aubrey Smith, Nigel Bruce, Boris Karikoff, Ronald Coleman, Alan Mowbray, Eugene Walsh, Reggie Owen, and others equally well known.

Among the clubs which the British Columbians expect to meet are sides drawn from the student body of the University of Southern California and the U.C.L.A., teams supported and developed by the Hollywood cricket clubs.

Both Gene Walsh and Sam Mills, who were with the California touring team last summer, were members of university elevens.

OPEN TO ALL

Selection of the British Columbia players who will form the three invading teams has not yet been started, but preliminary arrangements indicate all wishing to make the trip will be given an opportunity to participate in the California matches.

On the other side of the exchange of visits, California will send up four teams next year, two from San Francisco and two from Los Angeles. The former will arrive in Victoria in July and the latter in August. In addition to the matches here they will play in Vancouver and other provincial points.

SOCCER TOUR TURNED DOWN

B.C. Commission Rejects Offer to Send All-star Team to California

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—John Richardson, secretary of the British Columbia Soccer Commission, yesterday announced his organization had rejected the terms offered by the California Soccer Association for a four-game series in the south over Christmas and New Year holidays.

Following the announcement John Munro of the New Westminster Royals, Canadian champions, stated his team would be willing to make the trip if successful negotiations could be made.

The soccer commission was originally offered $800 for the tour. This amount was later raised to $1,250, but the commissioners refused the offer when they found they could get no guarantee of insurance for players. They had planned to send an all-star team.

If a team makes the California tour they will leave here December 22, play in San Francisco Christmas Day and in Los Angeles December 27. A second game will be played in Los Angeles New Year's Day and the fourth game of the series in San Francisco at a later date.

HAINSWORTH FREE AGENT

Veteran Goalie Given Outright Release By Toronto Hockey Club

New York, Nov. 26.—Conny Smythe, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, announced last night George Hainsworth, veteran goalie, had been released outright. Since the start of the season the Leafs have had two goalies, Turk Broda and Hainsworth. "Broda has the job and it's his as long as he can keep it," said Smythe.

Asked why the sturdy little netman from Kitchener, Ont., was dropped, the Leafs' manager said Broda was just as good as Hainsworth and about twenty years younger.

Smythe also said Charlie Conacher, who has been handicapped by a wrist injury since the start of the season, would be given a ten-day rest. Gordon Drillon will be brought up from Syracuse Stars to play right wing in Conacher's absence.

Dropping of Hainsworth marked the disappearance of the second veteran player from the Leafs' active line-up in two days. Yesterday King Clancy, the great defenceman, announced he was hanging up his skates, although he is remaining on the team's roster.

HAS NO PLANS

Hainsworth said he had no immediate plans for the future. He planned to try to finish out the season playing hockey if there was an opening.

Of the Leafs he said, "They were a wonderful bunch of boys to play with."

Hainsworth has ben playing professional hockey for fourteen years. He said he had only missed one N.H.L. play-off in all that time, which included two Stanley Cup championships with Canadiens in 1930 and 1931.

The brilliant little Kitchener netman started his professional career with Saskatoon in 1921. He was sold to Canadiens in 1926. In 1932 he went to the Leafs in a straight player deal for Lorne Chabot.

Hainsworth won the Georges Vezina Trophy, awarded annually to the league's best goaltender, in 1928-9 and 1929-30.

He recalled that one season with Canadiens he had twenty-two shutouts in forty-four games, with only forty-three goals scored against him.

Australian Is Billiard Champ

Johannesburg, South Africa, Nov. 26.—Robert Marshall, Australia, last night was declared the winner of the British Empire amateur billiards championship. Allen Prior, South Africa, was second, and Joe Thompson, England, third.

The event was decided by the league system.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

PILGRIM TRESPASSERS . . .

"Down to the Plymouth Rock,
That had been to their feet as a doorstep,
Into a world unknown,
The corner stone of a nation!"
—Longfellow "Courtship of Miles Standish."

Quite through accident did Plymouth Rock become famous as the landing place of the Pilgrims in America—and because it was an accident the results were far more historically important than the event would have caused if Plymouth had been the scheduled landing place.

Blown off their course numerous times during the stormy, nine-week crossing of the Mayflower, the Pilgrims sighted Cape Cod on November 9, 1620. Realizing mistakes in navigation had brought them to land far from "Southern Virginia" where they had received a grant of land from the London Company, they were unwilling to again run the risk of stormy seas.

But dissension ran rife in their ranks. A few men aboard the ship voiced an opinion that they would be independent of all authority because they would not be in the original territory assigned them—trespassers on land belonging to the Plymouth Company. To offset any possible future trouble on these grounds, the leaders of the expedition drew up the Mayflower Compact—now regarded as the foundation of modern American democracy.

A small expedition of exploration was sent out to choose a well-situated spot for a colony. The location now known as Plymouth Rock was chosen and on December 21, 1620, the entire party landed there to establish the first permanent English colony in America.

KNAVES . . .

Now defined as a rogue, or a playing card bearing the picture of a servant, the word "knave" has known a peculiar evolution. Strange as it seems, all boys were once knaves, for that was the meaning of the word as taken from the Anglo-Saxon "cnafa." Gradually it came to apply to a man of humble birth, finally to its present meaning.

Tomorrow: Pigskin Paradox.

ROSS REIGNS HEAVY CHOICE

Welterweight Champion 6 to 1 Favorite to Whip Jannazzo Tomorrow Night

New York, Nov. 26.—Despite Promoter Jimmy Johnston's prediction that the welterweight title will change hands tomorrow night, the general impression along Broadway's fight row today was that Champion Barney Ross would take Challenger Izzy Jannazzo handily.

Odds were as high as 6 to 1 on the Chicago champ to win the first defence of his title since he regained it from Jimmy McLarnin a year ago last May.

At Ferndale, Ross, apparently as good as ever, stepped through a snappy drill then hung up the gloves until he climbs into the ring with the Eastsider.

Jannazzo took his last workout in a New York gym.

John Henry Lewis, just back from England, where he beat Len Harvey, will engage in a couple of over-the-weight matches before returning to England to defend his light-heavyweight title against Jock McAvoy, the British champion.

Preparations for the proposed Atlantic City duel btween Jimmy Braddock and Joe Lewis are at a standstill pending Braddock's appearance before the New York State Athletic Commission tomorrow to undergo a physical examination and sign to defend his heavyweight championship against Max Schmeling next June. Meantime, Braddock has resumed training in a local gymnasium.

High Ruggers Whip College

An all-star High School team from Oak Bay and Victoria defeated a team from College 3 to 0 in a fine exhibition rugby game on the Fernwood grounds yesterday.

The lone try was scored in the last five minutes of the game on a brilliant three-quarter run when the ball went from Carney to Brown to Lucas, who ran twenty-five yards and downed the ball over the College line. Jim McGary failed to make the convert.

Races Planned For Y Runners

New Year's Day Programme and Indoor Meet Arrangements Advance

Plans for winter activities for Victoria's Flying Y Runners reached a more definite point today with the announcement of a tentative road race programme on New Year's Day and provisional acceptance of January 22 as the date for the annual indoor track meet here with Varsity.

The road races will form a part of the association's annual open house programme and will be staged in the vicinity of the Y.M.C.A. They will most probably include events from the half-mile to three miles, all finishing in front of the Y shortly before the indoor programme starts.

Arrangements still have to be made with the officials in charge of the Armories for the indoor meet on January 22, the date suggested by Varsity for the duel event. The student runners have assured the local association they will send across a strong team and should give the Victorians lots of opposition in the annual feature won last year by the association.

FILLY SELLS FOR $7,000

Bill Strang Pays Handsome Sum For The Duchess at Old Glory Auction

New York, Nov. 26.—Bill Strang, in whose Brooklyn stable is quartered the winter-book favorite for next year's Hambletonian, laid plans for the 1938 renewal of the rich trotting horse stake yesterday when he paid the highest price of the sale for a yearling filly at the forty-second Old Glory auction.

The Brooklyn horseman went to $7,000 to get The Duchess, a little bay daughter of Peter Volo-Margaret Arion—the combination which sent such great trotters to the races as Protector and The Marchioness. Both Protector and The Marchioness hung up marks of 1.59¼ as three-year-olds four years ago, while the latter won the Hambletonian.

Last year Strang paid $1,000 for Twilight Son, a filly which proved to be one of the best investments of the year.

The sale of The Duchess, consigned by Dr. Ogden M. Edwards's Walnut Hall Farm, was the high spot of the day that saw the famous trotting Kentucky nursery dispose of twenty-six head for $32,845. Thirty yearlings from Gage B. Ellis's Village Farm of Langhorne, Pa., went for $15,050; J. J. Mooney, owner of the Peninsular Farm at Fremont, Ohio, sold eleven of his offerings for $4,925 and Lawrence B. Sheppard's Hanover, Pa., Shoe Farm sent seventeen under the hammer for $6,565.

Altogether during the day, eighty-six head changed hands, selling for $62,805 to bring the two-day aggregate for 173 yearlings, stallions, brood mares and proven racers to $140,355.

WORKOUT TONIGHT

Victoria City first division soccer players are asked to attend a workout this evening at the Veterans of France at 7.30 o'clock.

Spencers Boost Football Margin

Shutout Navy 2 to 0 to Score Only Victory in Three-game Wednesday League Card; Hudson's Bay and Garrison Draw 2 to 2 in Hard Game

Spencers, leaders in the Wednesday Football League Hayward Cup competition, moved into a clear two-point lead yesterday afternoon by scoring a 2 to 0 victory over the Navy at Heywood Avenue. Hudson's Bay, occupants of second place, could do no better than draw with the Garrison at Work Point Barracks, while a scoreless deadlock was the verdict of the match between the Victoria Longshoremen and James Bay Wanderers at the Athletic Park.

With Daryl Bissell and Art Chapman marking up a goal apiece in the initial stanza, Spencer's soccer eleven shut out the Navy, 2 to 0, in a ragged exhibition of football at Heywood Avenue.

The white-uniformed sailors, owing to ineffective finishes to their forward pushes, were repulsed repeatedly by a smooth-working departmental back division, Bernie Clarke and Lloyd Cann, in the first session. Although Spencer's dominated play almost exclusively in the last portion of the tussle, their poor movements in front of the Navy goal proved disastrous to some excellent combination plays.

OPENING GOAL

The first fifteen minutes of play saw a pair of evenly-matched teams doing battle. Up to this point play was a see-saw affair, with both fractions holding the tide of play periodically. It was just a few minutes later that Spencer's crashed the scoring column. Taking the ball from their own goal kick, the forwards sped down the field in fine passing formation. Bissell, operating on the right wing, crossed to Art Chapman, who drove a fast shot past Goalie Mundle.

Following this the sailors went onto the offensive and held play in their opponents' territory for some time. Netminder Stewartson was called to head off Dovey's attempt, which Cockrill accepted, but his shot whistled over the bar. Dovey tried again. He was wild. The defencemen turned back many weak offensives here.

Spencer's finally broke up the assemblage in front of their goal and engineered the leather to the other end. Here Spencer's missed a perfect set-up. Bissell let go a long, hot drive that was meant to be a pass for one of three of his teammates who were in that area. If passed within a foot of each, but neither raised a boot to it even although there was but a goalie to beat. The ball finished its journey behind the goal. It was a golden opportunity.

A beautiful combination play as thirty minutes of this session elapsed, gave the department store club its second marker. Wally Stewart, on the left wing, accepted a drifter from well up the field. He crossed it to Collins, who found opposition too stiff and passed it onto Chapman, who, in turn, let Bissell have it on his wing. Bissell worked in as far as he could and then let go with a bullet drive that caught Mundle flat-footed.

In the last half Spencer's were forever in the forefront. Their numerous attempts at the Navy goal, however, were wild, Goalie Mundle being called on to intercept but few, some from set-ups even. In this half the Navy was able to make about four rushes into Spencer's territory, but they failed to make an impression on the scoreboard.

Al McKinnon refereed.

The teams were:

Spencer's — Stewartson, Clarke, Cann, L. Bradley, Moir, D. Bradley, Bissell, Munroe, Chapman, Collins and Stewart; substitute, Whittle.

Navy—Mundle, Dovey, Talbet, Hutton Robinson, Sands, Brown, Dovey, Cockrill, Hibbert and Walker.

PLAY TO DRAW

Garrison and Hudson's Bay tallied a pair of goals apiece to end their tussle at Work Point Barracks in a 2 to 2 draw, after a fast and interesting match.

Pressing hard as the match opened the Bays soon marked up their first tally, when the ball was crossed in from the wing to McBride, who headed to Preston. The pivot ace scored on a fine shot. Following the kick-off the Garrison went on the offensive. The Bays' defence held them off for some time, but their efforts were finally rewarded, when goalie Travis muffed in trying to punch out Thompson's drive. He missed completely and the ball en-

Varsity Cagers Win Over Munro

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—University of British Columbia downed Munro Cagers 36 to 30 in an Intercity Basketball League fixture here last night.

Paced by Pringle and Matheson, who accounted for twenty-nine of their team's total points, the Collegians ran up a ten-point lead at halftime, 23 to 13.

They were outscored 17 to 13, however, in the second half but stayed off a last-quarter attack to maintain a winning margin.

LIBERTY CAFE HOOP VICTORS

Defeat Trade-Ats 32 to 30 in Fast Tussle; Scottish and Cardinals Win

Liberty Cafe hoopsters still maintained their undefeated record today, but are still thinking about the narrow escape they encountered at the hands of the Trade-Ats, yesterday evening in a fast men's senior B tussle that headed the three-game card at the High School gym. The outcome was a 32 to 30 decision in the cafemen's favor.

The Trade-Ats, displaying their best form of the season, scored the first basket and maintained their lead during the initial stanza to enjoy a 14 to 12 margin at the interval.

Soon after the resumption of play the Liberties caught up with their opponents. The lead changed twice. Then the cafemen got clicking and raced to the front, where they were finally stopped with a twelve-point lead. Trade-Ats fought back with determination during the last part of the session. Twice they came within a basket of their opponents, but could get no further. The final whistle saw them still trying gamely to cut down the two-point deficit.

Bob Whyte's Burnetts bowed to defeat at the hands of Jack Taylor's Cardinals, 29 to 17, in a women's fixture. The eventual winners were leading 21 to 5 at the breather, but in the final portion were outscored 12 to 8.

Canadian Scottish senior C men's hoopsters registered a 22 to 19 verdict over Ray's, in the curtain raiser. The result of the match left the Kilties, Hudson's Bay and Ray's in a three-way tie for first berth.

Wally Stipe refereed.

Charity Dog Show To Be Held Dec. 5

A charity dog show, with proceeds going to the Gyro Christmas Hamper Fund, will be staged on Saturday, December 5, by the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, it was announced by officials of the group yesterday evening, following a meeting in the Y.W.C.A.

The show will be held in the old Prior building, corner of Government and Johnson Streets.

The afternoon will be devoted to the children, with a dozen classes to be judged. Every young exhibitor will receive a prize and the first class will be judged at 2.30 o'clock. The evening show will be for adults, the doors being open at 7.30 o'clock.

Admission to the show will be in the form of foodstuffs suitable for hampers. A small entrance fee will be charged each exhibitor.

BUDDY BAER MATCHED

Chicago, Nov. 26—Buddy Baer, California heavyweight, will meet Patrick Michael Barry, Ireland, in a ten-round bout December 9 at the Chicago Stadium. Frankie Klick, San Francisco lightweight contender, will fight Jack Joe Connolly, Ireland, in another ten-rounder.

Major Hockey Clubs Adopt Novel System to Obtain Open Play

Defensive Style Will Cost Them $1,000 Forfeits

Boston, Montreal Maroons and Canadiens Enter Into Agreement

Four Games On Tonight

"Kitty" (otherwise Thomas Patrick) Gorman will be on the spot in Boston tonight. If he bars the door once, if his Montreal Maroons so much as look as though they'd like to shoot the puck up the ice, his opponent in a thousand verbal duels—Art Ross—will be around to collect $1,000.

When he managed Ottawa Senators, Gorman was credited with originating the kitty-bar-the-door system, which was practically nothing but keeping three or four men somewhere near the net-minder's lap and getting rid of the puck whenever possible. Later he outlived that.

And he had better forget it all tonight for the checks will be down. Gorman has accepted Ross's suggestion that the visiting team forfeit $1,000 if it fails to play open hockey. Bruins will be in the same spot when they visit Montreal. In each city two newspapermen will judge whether the hockey is open enough.

CANADIENS AGREE

Montreal Canadiens also have agreed to post the grand to make sure Bruins play a fast game in Montreal when they next visit the Habitants. But tonight Cecil Hart's men won't have to worry about their opponents adopting defensive tactics. They will be playing Toronto Maple Leafs and if there is anything the Leafs lack at the moment it is a defence.

True, they have Red Horner and the big fellow is going good. But who else is there on the Leaf rearguard to stop the happy Habitants? Happy Day is slowing up and is expected to follow King Clancy and George Hainsworth into retirement as soon as Leafs can get a successor.

Jack Howard, brought up from Syracuse for tonight's game, is untried, and Jimmy Fowler can't be expected to look good against the fast Habitants just yet. The best Toronto fans hope for is an even break in the two games with Canadiens tonight in Montreal and Saturday in Toronto.

For those two games and for the next ten days, in fact, Leafs will be without Charlie Conacher, who will be replaced by Gordon Drillon, another recruit from Syracuse. Conacher is being given a holiday to strengthen the wrist he injured in a training game.

Like the Maroon-Boston game and a set-to at Detroit between Red Wings and Chicago, the Canadien-Leaf game will be the first meetings of the teams this season. Twenty-seven games have been played in the National League so far and not all of the teams have met each other.

Three Soccer Games Carded

Fixtures in the Sunday School Football League scheduled for Saturday, will see St. Alban's take on the Metropolitans on the former's home grounds at Spencer's Park; Emmanuel Baptist, trailers in the league, meet Centennials, league leaders, at the Victoria High School grounds, and St. Aidan's face-off with Lake Hill at Lower Central.

Referees will be H. Tooby, F. Tooby and P. J. Woodley. All games will commence at 2 o'clock. Managers of teams are requested to telephone results of games each Saturday to secretary R. Fuller, E4763, in order that credit points can be given for newspaper publication.

High Football Elevens Battle

The Victoria High School B team suffered their first defeat of the season on Tuesday when the Victoria High School A team beat them by 2 to 0 in an inter-high school soccer league game.

John Munroe netted the first try early in the first half when he placed a well-placed shot through the net.

Cosler handled the game.

NEWCOMERS TO WRESTLE

"Bull" Martin and Bobby Stewart Will Show Saturday at Tillicum Gym

Two new faces will appear in Victoria's mat ring at the Tillicum gym Saturday night, when "Bull" Martin and Bobby Stewart come to town to take part in a double main event.

The promoter is now busy securing good opponents for the pair. They will each be scheduled for a six ten-minute round match, or the best of three falls.

Martin has been performing on the coast for some time, but up to now efforts to induce him to come to this city had proven unsuccessful. A rugged, husky and colorful performer, Martin has had remarkable successes in his appearances in Pacific Coast cities. He has been seen in action in Vancouver, Seattle, Portland and Tacoma.

Stewart, who also arrived from the east but a short time ago, is another of the big timers. It is intimated that his campaign on the Pacific Coast is preparatory to title elimination bouts in the east. He is said to be fast and clever.

"Babe" Smallinski, Polish exponent, who has appeared here many times during the last few years, will return to exchange grips with Louie Newman, local mat artist. They will fight in the five six-minute round special tilt.

The show will open with the appearance of a pair of local lads. The opening gong will be at 8.45 o'clock.

Americans' Scoring Ace

SWEENEY SCHRINER

brilliant goal scorer of the New York Americans of the National Hockey League, Schriner led the league in points last season and is off to a flying start in defence of his honors.

tered his net to make the score stand one goal apiece.

As the tide of play changed to the other end, Preston was wild twice in succession. Glendenning blocked McKenna's powerful attempt and a combination between Brown and Preston, resulted in the latter missing.

The departmental gang advanced into the lead when Brown and McKenna worked in close on a fine passing play, and then gave it to Fogden, inside left, who headed in. That ended the scoring for the half.

The Tommies forced matters as the second half opened, but after a number of unsuccessful attempts at goal, lost possession to the green and gold sweatered Bays. The soldiers raided again. Worswick's shot hit McConnell, to force a corner. Edwards missed on open goal.

The Bays got away to a fast break, but Kennedy's hot shot soared over the crossbar. For sometime play swung in either direction, with both teams pressing hard at times. Then Edwards, Garrison inside left, scored to tie the count. Both teams fought hard for the winning marker for the rest of the match, but at the final whistle there was no change.

Percy Shrimpton refereed.

The teams were:

Hudson's Bay—Travis, O'Connell, McConnell, Williamson, Kennedy, Oakman, McKenna, Brown, Preston, Fogden, McBride and McLellan.

Garrison — Glendenning, Watt, Evans, Stewart, Wallace, Thompson, Shonee, Wilkinson, Worswick, Edwards, Thorburn and G. Wilkinson.

NO SCORE

Handful of spectators who attended the match at the Athletic Park witnessed a hard-fought match that produced little good football. The Longshoremen held the upper hand throughout the majority of the ninety minutes' play, but were unable to get a goal.

The front line of the Longshoremen passed up enough scoring opportunities to win half a dozen matches although it must be said the back division of the Wanderers turned in a steady performance.

Play was inclined to be on the stiff side with members of both clubs playing a spoiling game with the result neither club was able to display good football.

D. McMillan refereed.

Victoria Longshoremen—Fleming, Eastwood, Belford, Rogers, Fieldhouse, Bourne, Holness, Barnswell, Roskamp A. Murray and Hall.

James Bay Wanderers—C. Saddler, Knapp, White, W. Saddler, T. Smith, L. Gelling, Watson, Davis, Davidson, Hodd, Ball and Glancy.

FIGHT RESULTS

BOXING

Pittsburgh—Al Gainer, 171, New Haven, Conn., outpointed Emilio Martinez, 173½, Denver, ten.

Oakland—Pablo Dano, 123, Manila, knocked out Al Spina, 122, Potland, seven.

WRESTLING

Portland, Ore.—Chief Chiwaki, 240, Indianapolis, defeated Bob Stewart, 230, St. Paul, Minn.

St. Louis—Everett Marshall, 225, La Junta, Colo., pinned Ray Steele, 218, St. Louis, with back body-drop in 48 minutes; Lee Wykoff, 228, Nevada, Mo., threw Dory Roche, 210, Decatur, Ill.; Milo Steinborn, 215, Germany, pinned Tommy O'Toole, 220, Houston, Texas.

DEATH SENTENCES TO BE CARRIED OUT

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—The government announced late yesterday it would not interfere with the death sentence imposed on Earl Dunbar of Vancouver for the murder of William Hobbs, bank clerk, in a hold-up last January. Dunbar is scheduled to be hanged tomorrow morning. Charles Russell, also of Vancouver, was executed several weeks ago for his part in the murder of Hobbs.

The government decided also not to interfere with the death sentence imposed on Roland Sinclair of Montreal, condemned to be hanged this week.

JONES-DAVIES IN WORKOUTS

Fighters Open Training Sessions For Ten-round Bout Here December 3

Albie Davies, local welterweight, and Dusty Jones, Seattle, who will battle in the ten-round main event of the boxing card to be presented at the Esquimalt Athletic Association Hall, on December 3, opened their training sessions last night at the Work Point Barracks.

The workouts attracted a good crowd and the fans saw the boys go through some stiff training. Jones, who will remain in the city until the fight, and Davies will go through their paces again tonight at Work Point, starting at 7 o'clock.

Frankie Neal, Victoria, who will appear in the six-round semi-windup, is also working out in preparation for his first appearance in several months. The opponent for Neal will be Dud Miller, Port Alberni.

Jones, who has made two appearances in the city, has proven popular with the crowd and his boost to the main event slot should be a drawing card. In his first local fight Jones scored a technical knockout over Freddie Buxton. Appearing on the Sonny Buxton-Danny Pahl card, Jones scored a clean-cut decision over Eddie Ryan, New Westminster.

Seattle Hawks in Win Over Oakland

Sound City Club Whips Clippers 6 to 2 to Take Clear Lead in Coast Hockey League; First Defeat of Season For California Squad

Seattle, Nov. 26.—Oakland Clippers moved on to Portland today for a battle with the Buckaroos tonight, smarting from their first setback of the season.

After one victory and two ties, Oakland was trounced by the Seattle Sea Hawks here last night, 6 to 2.

A near-capacity crowd of 4,200 watched the Seattle stickhandlers down the Clippers in business-like fashion to gain undisputed leadership of the Pacific Coast League. The victory gave the Sea Hawks a total of seven points, two more than Vancouver in second place. Oakland remained in third place with four. Tonight Portland was aiming for its first triumph in its third game.

At the start of the third, McAdam again sagged the Oakland net for his third tally of the evening and Aubrey Webster, taking a pass from Moffatt, broke away for the second goal for the Clippers. Downie ended the scoring five minutes later on an assist from Lyons.

Oakland—Clark; Houbregs, Kenny; King; Moffatt, Webster. Subs; Hutton, Dyck, McCabe and Hemmerling.

Seattle—Venne; D. Gilhooly, Mullen; McAdam; Tabor, Proudlock. Subs; Jacobs, Downie, B. Gilhooly and Lyons.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Oakland; Moffatt (Houbregs), 9.35; 2, Seattle, McAdam (Proudlock), 10.07. Penalties; None.

Second period—3, Seattle, McAdam, 2.08; 4, Seattle, Downie (B. Gilhooly), 4.16; 5, Seattle, Lyons (Downie), 16.45. Penalty: Dyck.

Third period—6, Seattle, McAdam (Mullen), 2.50; 7, Oakland, Webster (Moffatt), 3.32; 8, Seattle, Downie (Lyons), 8.39. Penalties: Moffatt, Proudlock (2), Kenny, Tabor and King.

RADIO PLANT SOON READY

Powerful New Transmitter of CRCV, Vancouver, Nears Completion

Construction of a modern plant to house the new 5,000-watt transmitter of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation station CRCV has been completed on the level Lulu Island delta in Vancouver, and it is expected the transmitting equipment will be installed and operating before Christmas.

Conforming with regulations of the Canadian Air Ministry, the 425-foot tower which rises over the station is painted in seven alternate bands of orange and white, and powerful lights are placed diagonally at 100-foot intervals.

The lights will be turned on at sundown every evening and will remain burning until sunrise. At the request of the inspector of civil aviation in Vancouver, lights will be kept burning during days when visibility is not good.

In the new Canadian National Railways hotels on Georgia Street the most up-to-date radio studios in Canada are being built.

All partitions will be of soundproof construction and walls, floors and ceilings will be separate from the main building structure.

The studio suite will include a large auditorium studio, two floors in height, and two smaller studios with a lounge observation room.

G. D. McKinstry, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation acoustical engineer, is representing the corporation in supervision of acoustical treatments.

Special built-in lighting fixtures and an air-conditioning plant entirely separate from the hotel's system are being installed. The radio installation, supervised by H. M. Smith, C.B.C. engineer, including amplifiers and equipment necessary for relaying programmes from the studio to the Lulu Island transmitter, was designed by C.B.C. technicians and manufactured in Canada.

The new broadcasting system of CRCV is expected to provide more efficient and broader coverage of the coastal district.

CLUB OFFERS SCHOLARSHIP

Business and Professional Women Submit Plan to School Board

An offer of a $50 scholarship from the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club to be given towards assisting a girl student in the commercial course at High School to continue her business studies will be considered by the City School Board at its meeting next Wednesday.

The method of choosing eligible candidates for the bursary is to be considered further if the offer is accepted.

Other business to come before the trustees will include an amendment to the board's by-laws, advanced by Trustee Walter E. Staneland, advocating the appointment of a management committee in addition to the present two committees of the board.

There is also to be considered the appeal of Public Library officials for assistance in the financing of the purchase of new reference books for the library, required under the new provincial curriculum.

On Wednesday evening members of St. Mary's A.Y.P.A. visited the plant of the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. Ltd., where they were met by members of the staff, who kindly showed and explained the process from start to finish.

FUNERAL NOTICE

The funeral of the late Comrade Macario Fatt, 47th Battalion, will take place Friday (27th instant) at 3.30 o'clock, at St. Andrew's Cathedral.

Members of Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., are requested to attend.

GOVERNOR AT ROTARY CLUB

Charles A. Mowry, Spokane, and Mayor David Leeming Speak at Luncheon

"Rotary is the most extensive, most inclusive and most comprehensive organization of any kind, anywhere in the world, not excepting the postal union," Charles A. Mowry, Spokane, governor of Rotary District No. 1, told members of the Victoria Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel today.

Mayor David Leeming was present and also addressed the club.

"Rotary is the most democratic organization," Mr. Mowry said. "It is so international now that it has been decided to hold every other international convention outside the North American continent."

There were 171,000 Rotarians in the world, the district governor said. This was a very small percentage of the total population of the world and Rotary could mean nothing unless each man took it seriously and lived up to its ideals.

"SERVICE BEFORE SELF"

No one knew much about Rotary, he said, because Rotary was constantly changing and evolving. The slogan, "He profits most who serves best," had been changed to "Service above self."

District No. 1, to which the Victoria club belonged, was the second largest district in the world and would be the largest soon. It extended from the North Pole to California and from Montana to the Pacific.

On July 1 of this year there were seventy-three clubs in the district, Mr. Mowry said. Now there were seventy-five. The new Courtenay club was No. 4,038. Since Courtenay had received its charter another had been granted to a club in Lakeview, Oregon, which was No. 4,051, showing that in the space of a few short weeks a dozen Rotary clubs had been formed throughout the world.

Mr. Mowry outlined the four objects of Rotary—club service, vocational service, community service and international service. He felt that there was a greater need for interest in government among Rotarians. He declared that only about 60 per cent of the people had exercised their right to vote in the last U.S. elections and felt that this was abusing democracy. It allowed undesirables to obtain office.

"We were well treated, well received, and a further investigation was asked for," Mayor Leeming summarized the results of his recent mission to England. He said it was impossible to bring back an answer to the bond question when it was still being investigated.

Of England, itself, the mayor said that it was in the middle of a boom. He saw at least half a million new houses on his trips around the country. There were miles and miles of new homes along the by-passes which had recently been constructed. Shops were modernized. The unemployment figures were the lowest since 1930 and the number employed was the highest in history.

Frank Doherty, president of the club, was in the chair. Tom Kelway led Rotarians in community singing.

The Obypa Club will present a farce in the Oak Bay United schoolroom tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, entitled "Look Who Is Here," by Charles George. The play is directed by Norman Buckle and the players will be Jean Smith, Mary Sinclair, Dorothy Farnsworth, Lucy Shaw, Dora Curtis, Shirley Farnsworth, Norman Buckle, Gerald Smith and Dick Bradbury.

The Canadian Cyclist Battalion held its reunion dinner at Speedie's Cafe last evening. Comrade A. Plowman gave an interesting talk on the Vimy Pilgrimage. The remainder of the evening was spent in recalling incidents during the active service of the battalion. The next meeting will be held sometime in January at the home of A. Plowman.

A public meeting will be held by courtesy of Mrs. C. Reade at 1558 Beach Drive, Tuesday evening, December 1 at 8.15 o'clock. G. B. Kitto will open a discussion on "The Mysteries of the Chemical Body." There will be a short programme, and refreshments will be served. The public is cardially invited. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Canadian Anti-Vivisection Society.

A meeting of the British Columbia Historical Association, Section No 1, will be held in the Provincial Library at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. Neil Perry, secretary of the economic council, will address the association on "The Economic Consequences of Confederation." As this is the first meeting of the society it is to be hoped every member will attend. Dr. T. A. Rickard, the new president, will preside.

Fines of $10 each, with costs, were imposed on Anthony Knowles, charged with operating a motor vehicle as a limited freight carrier without a license, and Albert Stokes, charged with crossing the middle line of a highway and overtaking a car, in the Provincial Police Court yesterday. Florence Byrne, also charged with operating a freight carrier without a license, was given suspended sentence, claiming exemption from fine under the act which provides that relief recipients are not subject to fine in such cases.

Langford Vicar Luncheon Guest

Twenty-five members of the local rural deanery met in Spencer's dining-room today at a farewell luncheon for Rev. A. M. Acheson-Lyle, vicar of Langford parish.

Canon A. E. deL. Nunns, on behalf of the deanery, presented Mr. Acheson-Lyle with a leather folio case. The departing clergyman will go to Portsea, England, to take up duties as curate.

Bishop H. E. Sexton spoke at the luncheon and Rev. N. E. Smith of St. Barnabas Church, president of the rural deanery, was in the chair.

NO CHANGE IN DEER SEASON

Game Commission Rejects Request to Extend Shoot-of Bucks

Requests of island sportsmen, submitted through the Affiliated Fish and Game Associations of Vancouver Island, for an extension of two weeks in the buck deer hunting season, which closes on Vancouver Island, Monday, November 30, has been rejected by the Game Commission of British Columbia.

Roger Monteith, president of the island association, received the information this morning in a letter from F. R. Butler, secretary of the Game Commission.

The text of the letter reads.

"While it is very unfortunate the weather conditions have been so unsatisfactory for deer hunting, at the same time, the majority of game associations, especially on Vancouver Island, before the present season was set, drew to our attention the necessity of protection for deer in many portions of the island, where their numbers have become depleted through disease, and strongly pointed out that it was very necessary that ample protection be given to these deer.

"Another matter which must necessarily be kept in mind in extending any hunting season at this late date, is the impossibility of advising all members as to such an extension.

"While we are only too willing, wherever and whenever possible, to meet the wishes of organized sportsmen in the province in connection with their recommendations, at the same time it has been decided that in this particular instance it would be unwise in the interests of conserving our deer, to grant the extension requested."

Mr. Butler said that the association's recommendation that the proposed bounty on black bear be thrown out, was receiving the attention of his department, as well as their proposal for an increase of the penalty imposed in respect to pitlamping. He said the matter of amending the Game Act in regard to the penalty for pitlamping will be given attention when the act next comes up for amendment.

Frank Mulliner Out For Trustee

Will Seek Election Next Month; A. Masters May Run For Alderman

While resignations threatened to reduce the field in civic election contests, the definite entry of Frank G. Mulliner, 1236 Yates Street, for the school board, helped to swell the number of those seeking office at the polls next month.

In the aldermanic division, Augustus Masters, 975 Bank Street, indicated he would be an entry, but was unwilling to make a definite statement.

Two candidates, Harold O. Simpson, 1622 Camosun Street, in the aldermanic lists, and Trustee Percy E. George, 3171 Mars Street, led the field in filing their nomination papers today.

M. F. Hunter, returning officer, announced today voters' lists were available at the City Hall on payment of a small fee. The list this year includes 247 more names than it did in 1935. The current issue registers 11,332 voters.

The Victoria College Science Club held its fifth and final meeting of the esting address on the topic "New Allan Harris, M.P.P., gave an inter-Frontiers." He dealt with the development of chemistry and the scientific attitude and the results upon industry.

The remains are resting at the Thomson Funeral Home, from where the funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, Rev. A. de B. Owen will conduct the service, after which interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS SINGING

Arion Club Has Justifiable Pride in Its Record

The Arion Club of this city, which is a male voice choir of fifty voices, will give the first concert of its forty-fifth season at the Empress ballroom on the evening of Wednesday, December 2.

This will be the 112th regular concert given by this veteran choir, its organization dating back to the year 1892, and since that time it has given three concerts each season up to the year of the Great War, and since that time has given two concerts each season.

The club is partly supported by its associated members who subscribe for a certain number of tickets for each concert, and very many such members have been subscribers since the date of the first concert in the year 1893, and which was held in the Institute Hall which stood on View Street.

Singing and subscribing members feel a justifiable pride in being connected with a musical organization which has maintained an uninterrupted existence in Victoria for nearly half a century. It can boast of being the oldest male voice choir in Canada, and the oldest but one on the Pacific Coast. No other local musical organization can boast of such a record.

The programme for the ensuing concert has been chosen with considerable care, and the committee feels it will suit all musical tastes, embracing as it does compositions by Brahms, Pache, Chadwick, Schultz, Hatton, Foote, Brewer, Buck and Mohr.

Mrs. Doris Calkins, a harpist of considerable renown from Oregon, will be assisting artist, and she will be heard in four solos, as well as accompanying the choir in a beautiful number appropriately named "Forest Harps." It is so seldom that this beautiful instrument is heard in solo work by an accomplished player that it is felt this will be a distinctly added attraction.

W. C. Fyfe, who so ably led the choir last season, will again wield the baton.

THIRTY-CENTS IS WAGE RATE

Men in Forestry Camps to Have Holdback in Earnings For Support

At the rate of 30c an hour unemployed who go into provincial forestry camps this winter will be able to earn enough to keep them until the end of April, according to plans explained by the British Columbia relief department here today.

The men will work seven or eight hours per day, depending on conditions, and will be charged 75c a day for board. Thus, on an eight-hour day, they would have $1.65 clear.

Part of these earnings will be paid out in cash immediately, the rest will be held back as a reserve funds to be paid out at the rate of $4 a week after the men leave camp. In this way after a man has put in two months or so at forestry work he will have sufficient to his credit to keep him for the rest of the period.

For the most part the men will camp in tents, although there are huts in the training stations at Cowichan Lake and Green Timbers. Spring beds, mattresses and blankets will be supplied, but the men will be required to purchase winter clothing out of their own earnings.

After passing through the training stations the men will go out in groups on trail crews, of which there will be twenty or thirty. Practically all the camps will be located on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland, where winter weather is not so harsh and forestry work is most needed.

Starting next week the men will be moved out to the forestry camps in crews. It is hoped to have 2,000 men working by the end of the year. On the turnover system the scheme will take care of 6,000 men over the full period if necessary.

ARE READY TO TAKE ISSUE

Republicans Will Support Roosevelt If Policies Sane, Says Congressman

"Just as long as the policies Roosevelt is attempting to enforce are for the good of the country the Republican Party will give its support to the administration. If these policies are otherwise immediate issue will be taken with them," said Hon. William H. Wilson, member of the United States Congress for the second Pennsylvania district, the heart of Philadelphia, who went down to defeat in the Democratic landslide.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are guests at the Empress Hotel and will sail by the Empress of Asia on Friday for the Orient.

"I am taking that holiday I have promised myself for some time and I am going to try to forget politics for the time being," said the congressman. He holds his seat at Washington until January 3.

But although Republicans will work with the Democrats for the good of the nation, they are not disposed to concede that the overwhelming mandate of the people means the continuance of the Democratic Party in office indefinitely.

"The Republican Party is coming back and the next presidential election should see a complete reversal of public opinion," commented Mr. Wilson.

"You can't bankrupt yourself to get back into prosperity," he said, referring to what he termed an "orgy of spending," which had been largely responsible for the return of the Democratic administration to office.

HOW IT HAPPENED

Asked for a Republican opinion on the Roosevelt landslide, Mr. Wilson said:

"There are 9,000,000 on the P.W.A. There are 10,000,000 on relief in the United States. The labor organizations are dove-tailed in with the administration. A blank cheque for $4,800,000,000 was voted by Congress for public works, and Roosevelt is enshrined in the hearts of those who are looking for something for nothing.

"Roosevelt ran for every office in the country. It was Roosevelt who won the election for the Democratic Party.

"The administration may consider the vote as a mandate to continue as in the past, or it may introduce radical changes along certain lines," said the Congressman commenting on the future Roosevelt policy.

"Some of the principles of the highly Socialistic government are strongly opposed by thinking people in the United States.

"It would be wise for the government to watch its step."

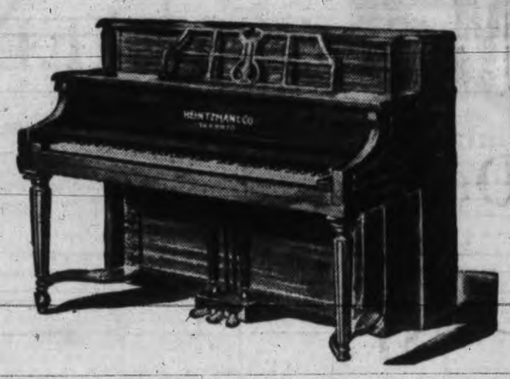
Mr. Wilson, who is an attorney by profession, has been in politics for thirty-eight years.

He was a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature for several terms and served as director of public safety in Philadelphia for four years

Creston Water Debts Are Eased

A readjustment in debt charges of the East Creston Water District to extend the time for repayment has been agreed upon by the provincial government. It was announced at the B.C. Legislative Buildings this morning. The money is due to the conservation fund.

Under the new arrangement the district must pay $4,254 immediately, $9,598 annually for the next four years, and $8,225 a year from 1941 to 1948.



THIS CHRISTMAS THERE'S A NEW REASON FOR GIVING A PIANO
The prime reason is that for the first time in almost fifty years a new development of far-reaching importance makes its appearance. It is a remarkably beautiful and compact instrument that has the appearance and tonal brilliance of a grand, yet occupies no more room than an ordinary upright. In addition, it is amazingly low in price. On easy terms from $450.

Kelowna Residents Inform Vancouver and Provincial Authorities of Their Disappointment on Coast

Canadian Press

Kelowna, B.C., Nov. 26.—Provincial government authorities and Vancouver organizations will be notified that Kelowna residents are disappointed with the treatment they received from Vancouver during the Golden Jubilee celebration there last summer, it was decided here at an "indignation meeting."

The meeting yesterday evening condemned the system of awarding prizes in Vancouver's Jubilee queen contest. Prize money should have been divided equally among all candidates, it was felt.

It was announced the Kelowna regatta committee is still owed $640 on its guarantee with the Golden Jubilee committee, and other local accounts, totaling several hundred dollars, still remain unpaid.

DEBTS ARE $5,669

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—The Golden Jubilee committee today was faced with $5,669.41 debts incurred by the Golden Jubilee sales committee, the organization in charge of ticket sales and prizes during the celebration of Vancouver's anniversary last summer.

Mayor G. G. McGeer spoke of the possibility of raising more funds to clean up outstanding obligations which he thought were a moral obligation of the Golden Jubilee, although the sales committee had been merely a private partnership operating under a contract with the Jubilee committee.

ROTARY CLUB AT COURTENAY

Delegation Will Go From Victoria to Attend Inaugural Dinner

A delegation of Rotarians will leave Victoria tomorrow to participate in the organization of a Rotary Club at Courtenay tomorrow evening. It will consist of J. H. Beatty, Alderman and Mrs. James Adam, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Scurrah and Mr. and Mrs. George I. Warren. En route up the island the party will stop off at Nanaimo to attend the Rotary luncheon there at noon. Courtenay is the fourth Vancouver Island city to organize a Rotary Club, the others being Victoria, Nanaimo and Duncan.

U.S. PEOPLE TO LEAVE BARCELONA

Barcelona, Spain, Nov. 26.—United States Consul-General Mahlon Perkins today gave the American colony what may be its final warning to evacuate Barcelona.

Mr. Perkins advised the colony the U.S. cruiser Raleigh would call here November 27 and urged Americans to leave the city aboard it. The consul-general warned that the consulate might be closed then and that further calls of American naval vessels were uncertain.

Appointments of J. W. Harris of West Summerland as a justice of the peace and Dr. A. F. Gillis, Merritt, as a coroner, were announced at the Legislative Buildings today.

Festival Date Is Confirmed

The Vancouver Island eliminations contest of the 1937 Dominion Drama Festival will be held in the Empire Theatre on March 5 and 6, the dates originally selected by the executive committee.

Captain T. L. Thorpe-Doubble, chairman of the eliminations contest committee, has received official information that the original dates selected for the British Columbia Regional Festival at Vancouver must stand, these being the last week in March. A request has been made that the Vancouver Island teams selected by the eliminations contest adjudicator to enter the regionals festival be allowed to play on Saturday night, but this matter rests entirely with the officials in charge of arrangements for the regionals festival.

Following the executive meeting at the home of the chairman on Sunday afternoon, rules governing the contest will be forwarded to those concerned.

TWENTY SEATTLE CLUBS RAIDED

Associated Press

Seattle, Nov. 26.—Six squads of state inspectors, aided by police, raided twenty speakeasies and night clubs last night in the biggest liquor selling roundup since prohibition ended. Many of the fifteen state men had been brought here from other parts of Washington to aid in the clean-up.

None of the hundreds of pre-Thanksgiving celebrants were molested, but the officers arrested thirty-five men on liquor charges. They were bailed out of jail within an hour.

"Cassidy" Story At The Atlas

"Hopalong Cassidy Returns" and "Three Married Men" Opened Today

Gail Sheridan, lovely young Paramount actress, and William Janney Jr., stage and screen star, furnish the romantic interest of the latest of the hard-riding, hard-shooting Clarence E. Mulford "Hopalong Cassidy" stories to be screened. The film, "Hopalong Cassidy Returns," opens today at the Atlas Theatre, with William Boyd as "Hoppy" and Janney as his younger brother.

"Hopalong Cassidy Returns" introduces the western star as a peace officer, called in to bring law and order to the little gold mining town of Mesa Grande, which has been occupied by a crew of outlaws who stop at nothing to gain their ends. Cassidy is no sooner made marshal than he learns his chief opponent is to be a woman, Evelyn Brent. As proprietress of the "Crystal Slipper" saloon, she is boss of the outlaws who make the saloon and gambling hall their headquarters. She chooses to fight the campaign—a choice that means her death in the end.

Being shown as the second feature picture on this programme is "Three Married Men," starring William Frawley and Mary Brian.

"Pigskin Parade" To Open Friday

The picture which features Stuart Erwin, Johnny Downs, Arline Judge, Betty Grable, Patsy Kelly, Jack Haley, the Yacht Club Boys, Dixie Dunbar, Anthony Martin and Judy Garland, is a crazy campus caper, with a procession of swingy songs and a never-ceasing barrage of laughter.

More melodious than "Thanks a Million," more side-splitting than "Sing, Baby, Sing," "Pigskin Parade" turns loose a legion of dancing girls and their singing pals in an uproarious yarn of a freshwater college that plays the big game of the season.

Lew Pollack and Sidney D. Mitchell delivered the song hits, while Harry Tugend, Jack Yellen and William Conselman supplied the screen play based on a story by Arthur Sheekman, Nat Perrin and Mark Kelly.

Darryl F. Zanuck selected David Butler to direct the picture with Bogart Rogers acting as associate producer.

To be shown on the same programme as a second feature in R. K. O. Radio's exciting romance of commercial aviation "Without Orders," a Peter B. Kyne story starring Robert Armstrong and Sally Eilers.

In "Carmen"

FRASER LISTER
who will appear in Bizet's opera, "Carmen," to be presented in the Empire Theatre on Friday and Saturday at 8.15 p.m., by the Victoria Grand Opera Association.

CAPITOL THEATRE

All the power, nobility and lofty sentiment which made Barry Benefield's novel, "Valiant Is The Word For Carry," a best-seller live anew, aided by the magic touch of the motion picture camera and the sterling performances of a great cast, in the screen version of the novel which opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday.

"Valiant Is The Word For Carrie" brings to the screen Gladys George famous stage actress, in the title role. She is supported by Arline Judge, John Howard, Dudley Digges, Harry Carey and Isabel Jewell. Miss George is a dramatic actress of exceptional ability and the mother role she creates in this film places her immediately among the great of filmdom.

"Carmen" to Be Given Friday

Basil Horsfall, producer of Bizet's opera "Carmen" to be presented in the Empire Theatre on November 27 and 28 by the Victoria Grand Opera Association, has been just as painstaking in casting the roles for the supporting cast as he was with the principals.

With Fraser Lister, star of many local productions, and Norman Tyrrell, playing El Dancairo and El Remendado, respectively, plenty of strength in the support to the principles is assured. Mr. Lister possesses a fine baritone voice, which he can use with great dramatic ability, while Mr. Tyrrell, who has an excellent tenor voice, will be given plenty of scope to reveal his aptitude for characterization.

With two such performers there should be a happy blending of tones and some fine supporting work.

"SINS OF MAN" AT THE PLAZA

Jean Hersholt Plays Lead in Fine Picture

Darryl F. Zanuck, the man with a thousand screen "scoops" to his credit, has done it again!

In the Twentieth Century production, "Sins of Man," which opened at the Plaza Theatre today with Jean Hersholt in the starring role, Producer Zanuck introduces to the screen Don Ameche.

Ameche first came to Zanuck's attention when he was appearing on "The First Nighter" and "Grand Hotel" broadcasts. Zanuck signed him to a long-term contract and confidentially predict that Ameche will soon be one of the screen's brightest stars.

OAK BAY THEATRE

The town's most ebullient musical picture at the moment is "Waltz Time in Vienna," currently showing at the Oak Bay Theatre.

The picture has merriment and charm added to the spell of Strauss's music; it tilts mischieviously at the foibles of the musical temperament as expressed in the rivalry of Johann Strauss and Joseph Lanner for the accolade of waltz king, and it makes sly fun of the English Court where the young Queen Victoria is seeking a means of capturing Prince Albert of Coburg for herself and England.

Joe E. Brown At Columbia Theatre

Swimming channels is one of the newer professions, requiring special strength, equipment, preparation and knowledge. The Ederles, Helmys and Youngs, all those who have swum an English or a Catalina channel, have been characterized by a peculiar form of inner compulsion which dictates in no uncertain terms. It tells them that they must swim the channel, that each failure is training for the next attempt. A few channel swimmers have achieved more than fame. The majority fail to achieve even that. The height of the vogue has been passed, but channel swimming again comes to the fore as the basis of a new comedy with Joe E. Brown, "You Said a Mouthful," now at the Columbia Theatre.

Wheat Prices Firm On Winnipeg Market

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 26.—Price firmness in wheat coincided on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today with brisk overseas demand for Canada's major cereal. Futures values closed ⅛ to ⅝ cent higher, November and May at $1.08⅛, December $1.06⅝ and July $1.06⅝.

The export sale were estimated at more than 1,000,000 bushels and followed similar heavy foreign buying yesterday. The Canadian wheat board was credited with offering wheat for sale, but the opperings were absorbed without difficulty.

Bullish marketwise were reports of frost damage in parts of Buenos Aires province in Argentina. Prices at Buenos Aires reacted to the reports and were up ¼ cent at noon. Liverpool closed 1⅛d higher to unchanged. United States markets were closed.

Cash grain spreads held steady. Coarse gains prices generally were firm.

GREAT NORTHERN

St. Paul Nov. 26 (Associated Press).—The Great Northern Railway today reported net operating income for the first ten months of 1936 of $20,447,594, an increase of $296,958 over the corresponding 1935 period.

For October net earnings of $4,203,372 were reported compared with $5,184,393 for October, 1935, with the decrease attributed to a decline in grain movements resulting from last season's short crop.

Pend Oreille Gains 32 Cents in Active Vancouver Trading

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—Attracting the heaviest turnover in some time, Pend Oreille led trading during morning dealings on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today and came out for a jump of 32 cents to close at $2.20.

Pend Oreille at this price was at the highest point in two years. Turnover amounted to 7,000 shares. The market as a whole was more active, total board volume amounting to 185,000 shares.

Gold stocks tended to drift lower in dull trading, while base metals and oils moved into higher ground.

Grandview was improved on the strength of gains in Pend Oreille and touched a high point of 10. The stock closed at 9½ for an advance of one cent. Over 12,000 shares were traded.

In the higher-priced issues, both Pioneer and Bralorne held to narrow range, while Premier tended to move slightly higher.

Activity in Reward featured the cheaper stocks, stocks scoring a turnover of better than 36,000 shares. Price was a half cent lower.

Minto was fairly active, closing one cent lower. Okalta was the bright spot in the oil section, closing the early period with an advance of around six cents.

INDUSTRIALS CLOSE LOWER

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 26.—Declines dominated the industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Oils declined when disturbed apparently by news a carburetor invention would cut gasoline consumption.

Nickel, Smelters, Ford A and Brazilian weakened narrow fractions. Canadian Car and Foundry common added ½. Pressed Metals about 1½ and the Bridge issues gain fractions.

Massey Harris and Cockshutt Plow were strong. Steel of Canada common and National Steel car were higher. Bathurst Power moved up 1½ to a new high of 18.

SAY JAPANESE OFFICERS HELD

Associated Press

Kweisui, Suiyuan Province, China, Nov. 26.—Japanese army officers who, according to Chinese sources, aided the defence of Paolingmiao before its capture by Suiyuan provincial troops, were reported held prisoners of war today.

Suiyuanese commanders declared the Japanese officers were seized after the city fell to Gen. Fu Tso-yi's troops yesterday.

Several hundred other Japanese escaped in motor trucks into eastern Chahar province, the high command declared. Gen. Fu, governor of Suiyuan, also announced the capture of Wuchuan.

SCHOOLS AS HOSPITALS

The battle for Paolingmiao, from which the Chinese soldiers were declared to have driven irregular Mongol troops, cost the provincial attackers 100 dead and 200 wounded, it was estimated. Numbers of wounded began to arrive in Kweisui where schools were turned into hospitals.

Irregular bombing planes, which Chinese assert have been supplied by Japan, continued raiding government positions along the Suiyuan-Chahar boundary, Chinese reports said.

Tarzan And the Leopard Men

Three hours later, Tarzan caught the scent of man, and soon he beheld the object of his frantic search—Orando and The Kid at the head of a party of warriors. There were not more than two hundred of them, but the Jungle Lord was pleased with their stalwart mien.

He dropped down before them, and a shout went up from them, for here was their master, the white giant whom they believed to be the incarnation of a powerful spirit. In fact, it was their trust in his supernatural powers which had led them to enlist under his banner.

Under no human leadership would they have dared do battle against the dread Leopard Men. Quickly now Tarzan explained the situation to Orando and The Kid. The war party must make a forced march to the Leopard Clan's stronghold and destroy the assembly of chiefs.

Tarzan himself, who could travel much faster, undertook to return at once to the Leopard God's temple to watch events. He judged that his small army might not reach there in time. In the end, he might be forced to take some desperate action—single-handed!

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Can anything be done to a wife who has suddenly gone vitamin crazy? I am a middle-aged man, heretofore happily married to a noble woman, and all has been peace and happiness between us until the present.

But here is how trouble has reared its horrible head in our home: I am a strong, robust 200-pounder and having led an active life, I am all bone and muscles. All my life I have been accustomed to eating real food. Even as a child my mother fed me sulphur and black molasses in the spring of the year to build red corpuscles. Understand, I am not subject to obesity nor am I gluttonish, but I just have a regular he-man appetite to which up to now my wife has catered. But recently she has joined some sort of a circle and the diet fad she has picked up there she is trying out on the family dinner table and especially on me. She scrutinizes with a hawk's eye every morsel of food that is introduced into my mouth. The bread slices are as thin as a paper napkin and the butter patties are transparent. I can't have potatoes if I eat bread.

And as for pie, that is anathema. Some evenings when I go home after an active day's work in my law office or looking over the farm all I find is a note saying that she and the children have had their supper and gone to an early movie and that I'll find my supper in the refrigerator, and, lo and behold, when I open up that air-conditioned metal box all that I discover are several thin slices of tomatoes and a lettuce leaf guarded on the side with a few ripe black olives.

In a word, vitamin D or H or X, or whatever its alphabetical name is, is wrecking my home and my wife's nerves and reducing my mental as well as physical powers. If this is part of the new life, I am against it. A few evenings ago I rebelled. I was hungry even for mere bread and butter, and when I beheld the unsavory layout on the table I gave my son a dollar and sent him to the corner grocery store to buy me a loaf of bread and a pound of butter.

Upon his return I began carving bread and spreading butter to suit my own appetite, whereupon my wife burst into tears and has been wearing a mildewed face ever since. That's what I can't stand, to make a woman weep. Really, Dorothy, don't you think this diet stuff is all tommyrot? I wish you would tell my wife so. E. PLURIBUS UNUM.

Answer: Well, Mr. Unum, I certainly do agree with you and am against the whole diet racket, especially as practiced upon husbands by wives. It is my honest and considered opinion that the increase in divorce, which so alarms the moralists, is chiefly attributable to the present mania among women for keeping thin by the process of not having anything fit to eat on their tables, and also to the fact that being hungry makes a woman as bad tempered as it does any other half-starved animal.

It isn't just merely a coincidence that domestic life isn't what it used to be, and that husbands and children won't stay at home evenings as they did in the dear gone days when women prided themselves upon their housekeeping and had never heard of calories. Always the centre of a happy home has been the dining-room. Our ideal of family life has been father and mother and children gathered about a table that groaned with its load of good food. Smiles of contentment wreathed every countenance while eager nostrils sniffed up savory odors and mouths watered in anticipation of the luscious roast or fowl.

But no imagination is strong enough to picture a happy family gathered about a table sparsely furnished forth with a dab of spinach and a fragile lettuce leaf or two and some gosh-awful mess warranted to be non-fattening but to include the proper vitamins that will sustain life, though why anybody wants to sustain life under such conditions remains a mystery only a dietitian can fathom.

Of course, it would be all right for a vitamin hound to starve herself if she wanted to—and the quicker the better—if she could do so without martyring her unfortunate husband and children, and if it didn't reduce her amiability even more drastically than it does her figure; but, alas, such is not the case. When a woman suffers she never wants to suffer alone. She wants her family to be miserable with her. And so, Mr. Pluribus, I can offer you no help in solving problem. Only sympathy.

But—here is a thought—if you could only induce a few widows, known for their tables they set, to ask you to dinner a few times, I think it would lay the vitamin bogey in your house.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am twenty-six, deeply in love with a girl who has very honestly told me that she has a past. The honorable attitude she has taken makes me love her all the more, but I am tortured by the memory of the Other Man. I try to dispel the thought of him, but it is always present. Can you suggest some way that will enable me to forget? The girl is lovely and I know that she deeply loves me. PAUL.

Answer: Has you life been so spotless that it has nothing in it that you would expect a girl to forgive and forget. Mighty few men are entitled to cast the first stone. Anyway, what the girl has done in the past is not so important to you as what she is in the present and what she is likely to do in the future. She has shown herself brave and honorable in telling you something that she need not have told you, and so I think that you need never fear that she will not be trustworthy.

There are two things a man should consider in marrying a girl with a past. The first is the character of the girl. There are girls who go wrong through the best that is in them. Because they love too much and are too generous to withhold anything from the man they love. These repent their wrongdoing in bitterness and tears, and once they have got back into the straight and narrow way no temptation will ever make them stray off it again. A man is safe in marrying such a girl.

The other girl is just loose morally. She is a philanderer by nature. She will always be out for adventure. She has no sense of shame or remorse and a man marries her at his peril. The other thing a man has to consider is his own attitude toward the girl. If he is always going to brood over what she has done and reproach her with it, he has no right to marry her, because he will make her miserable as well as himself, forgetting is just as important as forgiving in marriage.

DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily's Cranberry Sauce

By HOWARD R. GARIS

After Uncle Wiggily had finished eating his Thanksgiving Day dinner he sat for a while in his hollow stump bungalow. All the bunny rabbits were playing outside. Nurse Jane had the afternoon off, after getting such a bountiful meal ready.

"I think I'll go to the movies," said the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"A very good idea," said Mrs. Longears.

"Why don't you go with Nurse Jane to the movies?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who had been twinkling his pink nose at his wife and looking out of the window several times.

"I think you want to get me out of the way, my dear, so you may go adventuring," laughed the rabbit lady. "But don't worry. I am going to take a little sleep. I always feel sleepy after a Thanksgiving dinner. So you may do as you please, Wiggy. You needn't stay in to entertain me."

"Thank you, my dear. You are very thoughtful," said Uncle Wiggily.

HOP TO IT

"Besides," went on his wife, "I really am so sleepy that I would probably doze while you were talking to me. So hop out and have an adventure. I know you're anxious to do that, aren't you?"

"Indeed I am, but I didn't like to mention it on a holiday," said Mr. Longears. "But I would like to hop around."

"Then hop!" laughed Mrs. Longears. "You go to the movies, Nurse Jane."

"Thank you I will," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. As she was going out at the same time Uncle Wiggily was leaving the bungalow to go adventuring he noticed that Nurese Jane was carrying a small basket.

"Is that your lunch you are taking to the movies?" he asked.

"It's just some Thanksgiving cranberry sauce I promised to take to Mrs. Longtail, the mouse lady," Nurse Jane said. "I'm going to leave it for her."

"But that is quite out of your way if you are going to the movies," said Mr. Longears. "Let me take the cranberry sauce, Nurse Jane. It doesn't matter which way I go adventuring. I'll pass the house of Mrs. Longtail and I'll leave the basket there."

"Thank you," squeaked Nurse Jane, that being her way of talking.

Soon she was on her way to the movies and a little later Uncle Wiggily, with the cranberry sauce, was on his way adventuring. As he was hopping through the woods, all of a sudden he heard a voice shouting:

"There he is! I see him! Come on, Foxie! You grab the basket and I'll grab Uncle Wiggily. We'll meet at my den and divide."

"All right," said another voice.

"Oh! Oh! I might have known! The Fox and Bob Cat!" said Uncle Wiggily. He saw the two Bad Chaps coming toward him and started to hop faster, but he was too late.

All of a sudden the Fox snatched away the basket of cranberry sauce and the Bob Cat caught Mr. Longears by the head. But in doing so the Bob Cat tripped and fell. So did the Fox and the jar of cranberry sauce in the basket was tipped over and all the red juice ran out on the ground.

Not knowing what it was, the Fox became frightened and cried:

"Oh, look! Oh, dear! I have the nose bleed! Oh! Oh!"

"So have I! Both our noses are bleeding!" howled the Bob Cat. And they were so alarmed they ran away and didn't hurt the bunny gentleman at all.

Navy Plans Great Drydock in Hawaii

Bids Ranging From $16,000,000 to $21,000,000 Submitted, But Nothing Decided Yet

Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 26.—The Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation Limited, of New York City, with six alternate proposals ranging from $16,604,000 to $21,312,000 was the sole bidder today on the construction of the navy's new floating drydock for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, destined to be the world's largest.

The drydock, 1,016 feet long, will acommodate any naval vessel, including the aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga. The navy specified it should be built on the Pacific Coast.

ALL IN ONE PIECE

The drydock will be a steel structure of about 45,000 tons displacement with a beam of 165 feet and seventy-five feet high from the top deck to the keel. It will be entirely in one piece, and will have a pointed bow, steering mechanism and a stern gate, which can be raised and lowered.

The specifications permit approximately three years or 1,100 days for completion.

Secretary Swanson called for bids this month on a second floating drydock, which will be 446 feet long and sixty-eight feet wide, also for use at Pearl Harbor.

The highest bid embraced construction of a complete dock, including motive power, quarters and all other equipment.

The remaining five bidd contemplated construction with progressive omissions of certain technical equipment.

"PRETTY HIGH"

At a press conference later, Swanson said the Bethlehem bids "seemed pretty high" and added the navy would consider building the dock in one of its own yards on the Pacific Coast.

He stressed the navy had power to accept, reject or call for new bids, and added he would await recommendations of Rear Admiral Norman Smith, chief of Yards and Docks.

Swanson said the Navy General Board "had been considering for some time further improvements at Pearl Harbor," in addition to work now in progress.

He said one project under consideration was an auxiliary seaplane base northeast of Pearl Harbor, to be used when the latter is crowded with naval vessels. He added, however, the project was not likely for the immediate future as "we do not need it now."

Power Case Up For Settlement

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 26.—Mr. Justice C. A. Masten of the Ontario Appeal Court held today it was not the function of a judge to settle terms of a formal judgment, to be based on the court's decision, and referred back to L. d'Arcy Hinds, registrar of the Supreme Court of Ontario, settlement of the Ottawa Valley Power Co. Limited judgment.

The Appeal Court's judgment last week, by a majority of three to two allowed an appeal of the power company against a judgment of Chief Justice H. F. Rose dismissing the company's action against the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission.

Certain sections of the Ontario Power Act, 1935, under which contracts between the commission and the Ottawa Valley Company were cancelled by the Ontario government, were adjudged invalid. The court upheld the company's right to sue the commission without consent of the Attorney-General.

Mr. Hinds, at a subsequent meeting with counsel for the parties, fixed next Tuesday afternoon as the time for settlement of the formal order.

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—The British freighter Barrhill arrived here yesterday with 8,000 tons of Argentine corn.

More than 100 carloads of apples and pears from British Columbia, Washington and Oregon will be loaded this week aboard Ms. Oregon Express of the Fruit Express Line, it was announced by B. W. Greer and Son Ltd.

Nippon Yusen Kaisha Ms. Asama Maru sailed yesterday for San Francisco to take passengers, mail and baggage for the Orient. Ms. Hiye Maru is still here discharging Oriental freights. She will leave Thursday evening for Seattle.

Ms. Nichiyo Maru of the Mitsui Line will arrive Saturday with 4,000 tons of Japanese freights, according to Canada Shipping Co. Ltd., agents for the company.

Ss. Sun Wha of Chinese registry is expected here Thursday or Friday to load logs and lumber for Japan.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT PRACTICE

Halifax, Nov. 26 (Canadian Press).—Military authorities yesterday announced anti-aircraft gun practice would be carried out at Sandwich Battery overlooking Halifax Harbor for a ten-day period starting tomorrow. The Halifax Coast Brigade already has held one anti-aircraft practice this year.

DOWN THE GANGWAY

No Cargo Removed From the President Jackson—Crew Puts Baggage and Mails Ashore—Roumanian Couple Disembark Here—Smart Young Chinese Doctor Aboard—Washington Publisher Likes England Best of World's Countries

The winter gales, for which the bleak north Pacific is so famous, beset the voyage of the Ss. President Jackson from Yokohama, it was reported when the liner tied up at the local piers at 4.30 o'clock from ports in the Philippine Islands, China and Japan.

The ship remained in port only about an hour—long enough for her local passengers to disembark and for members of the crew to put ashore baggage and mails.

Her cargo remained idle in her holds for the crew would not permit local longshoremen aboard. Ten city policemen were stationed on the docks, but there was no trouble. Members of the local branch of the I.L.A. gathered on Dallas Road, where they received three delegates from the ship's crew. The Victoria Longshoremen's Association members were not on the docks.

Members of the crew were surly as they put passengers' baggage ashore. A few remarks were passed in anticipation of their walk-out in Seattle, leaving the President Jackson with close to 4,000 tons of freight still in her holds.

Mr. and Mrs. Melchio Frankel, professors of the occult sciences, from Roumania, arrived aboard the President Jackson and disembarked here, proceeding at midnight to Vancouver en route to eastern Canadian centres where they will spend some weeks. They have reserved accommodation for Europe, sailing from New York, by the Ss. Queen Mary, February 10. They are on a world voyage and boarded the President Jackson at Hongkong.

Dr. Fan Hai-Shan spoke English perfectly and was smartly dessed in the latest western fashion, so it was only natural to suppose he had been educated at some of North America's great universities. But he surprised newspapermen aboard the President Jackson yesterday when he told them he had never been in North America before.

Dr. Fan graduated in medicine from the Rockefeller Foundation in Peiping and will spend the next four years in post-graduate work at some of the great hospitals in the United States—Johns Hopkins and the Mayo Brothers' clinic. Then he will return to practice in Shanghai.

Of all the world's coustries, England was the loveliest and the most pleasant in which to reside, said M. Franklin Kline, publisher of Washington, D.C., who arrived in Victoria by the President Jackson after his twenty-third trip around the world in twenty-three years. During his many visits to England he had learned to love the English countryside, with its quiet and peacefulness. A few years ago he bought a country home there and next spring he hopes to move his family into it.

H. G. Squiers, a planter from Kenya Colony, Africa, was among the arrivals on the President Jackson. He was en route to New York. J. H. Lee of Shanghai arrived on his way to the Thatched House Club in London's St. James Street. Shanghai residents aboard the Jackson were Mrs. H. Azor, Anwar Chaoul, Ted Rothausen and Morris E. Weiss. Others aboard were Mrs. Arthur C. Lumley of Yokohama, Carl T. Wolf of Manila, G. F. Chaplin of Yokohama.

RAIL CASE IS ARGUED

Railways' Representative Says Restoration of Wages Is Impossible

Associated Press

Montreal, Nov. 25.—Further argument on behalf of railway workers seeking restoration of a 10 per cent wage reduction was submitted before the wage conciliation board today by Howard B. Chase, labor representative, concluding presentation of the workers' brief.

Since 1930, he said, men employed in the Angus shops of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal East, worked on a part-time basis of from ten to eighteen days a month, which meant they received only 40 to 60 per cent of what normally they would have drawn.

Firemen, engineers and conductors, paid on a mileage basis, had given up voluntarily part of their mileage to help fellow workers who otherwise would have gone on relief, he added.

Support of unemployed relatives was another burden rail employees faced during depression years, said the workers' representative.

RAILWAYS' ARGUMENT

Arguments for the railways was opened by George Hodge, Canadian Pacific Railway official who submitted a joint statement. Hodge said he hoped to show that much of the material submitted by the employees was not relevant to the matter in dispute.

"The real issue is a request of employees for a change in the percentage of deduction from compensation in effect under terms of the agreement dated November 3, 1934, which naturally applies only to those employees actually employed," he said.

"Present conditions and present operating revenues of Canadian railways render impossible restoration of basic rates of pay at this time."

In the opinion of the railways, he said, the employees' claim for removal of any part of the present 10 per cent deduction from basic pay rates was without justification.

"Existing basic rates of pay were established under conditions prevailing during the prosperous years 1926 to 1929," he said.

Hodge held rates of pay in railway service were on a higher level than those effective in other industries and said "the increases were conceded largely on account of the abnormal increase in cost of living under war and immediate post-war conditions."

Existing rates of pay established were generally more than double wartime rates even after the 10 per cent deduction was made, he submitted.

Japanese Slain In Border Clash

Report Says Ten Killed in Crush With Russian Frontier Guards

Associated Press

Hsinking, Manchukuo, Nov. 26.—Ten Japanese soldiers were killed today in a clash with Russian frontier guards north of Pogranichinaya, the Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported today.

(The Russian government at Moscow announced receipt of information of the border fight, on the far eastern Russo-Manchukuan frontier.)

The clash was described as the "most serious" in a series of border encounters between soldiers of the two countries.

The Manchukuan government protested to the Russian Consul-General at Harbin, the agency said.

Storms Beat Little Ship

Norwegian Freighter Reaches Newfoundland With Her Crew on Rations and Her Bunkers Empty

Canadian Press

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 26.—Bunkers empty and her crew on water rations for fourteen days, the weather-searred Norwegian freighter Beran pushed into port today to complete a thirty-eight-day crossing from Drammen, Norway.

Only yesterday her agents here said there was no chance the freighter had survived the fury of the north Atlantic. And they were not the only ones to lose hope as the 1,127-ton vessel ploughed through no fewer than fourteen storms, devouring her pulpwood cargo for fuel.

"I never experienced such weather in all my years at sea," said Capt. Teigen, tired and drawn, as he recounted the many times he and his crew of sixteen "almost gave up hope."

"We encountered no fewer than fourteen storms since we left Norway for Toledo, Ohio," the captain related, "and time and again we almost gave up hope."

Newsy Briefs of Land Sea and Air

NEW DIRECTOR

London, Nov. 26 (Canadian Press).—Lord Wigram, who was private secretary to King George V, has been appointed a director of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway Company.

FEAR SHIP LOST

Halifax, Nov. 26.—Hope, held tenaciously by those who know the ocean wiles, was abandoned yesterday for the Norwegian freighter Stranna, apparently lost with seventeen men. The coal-laden vessel sailed more than a month ago from Glasgow for Canadian ports, but has not been reported since.

BODIES REMOVED

New Orelans, Nov. 26.—The seared bodies of eight workmen were removed yesterday from the smouldering interior of the big freighter Scantic, swept by fire on a dryrdock here. A ninth man was missing.

The men, installing a refrigerator system in the 7,600-ton coastwise steamer of the Moosemack Line, were trapped by flames which broke out late Tuesday night, cutting off their only avenue of escape.

TUGBOAT SINKS

Put-in-Bay, O., Nov. 26.—Fishermen reported yesterday the suction tug Gala Water, en route from Huron, O., to Saginaw, Mich., sank in Lake Erie yesterday in a strong southwest wind. Capt. Clifford McGurk of Sandusky and an unidentified deck hand were rescued.

The Gala Water was motorless and in tow of the tug Liberty of Erie, Pa. The fishermen said the Gala Water apparently broke loose from the tug and capsized before members of the Liberty's crew could reach it.

COAL SHIP HELD

Boston, Nov. 26.—Officers of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association said yesterday two coal carriers, the Hampden and the William N. Page, had been prevented from sailing for Hampton Roads by a strike. They claimed the tie-up of coal carriers would be extended during the next few days.

During the day a picketing boat cruised the harbor, meeting incoming vessels and urging their crews to quit. On the picketing boat were representatives of both the Seamen's Union and the officers' group.

TAKEN IN TOW

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 26.—The rudderless Great Lakes freighter Emperor was taken in tow yesterday by the package freighter Renvoyle, owned by the same company, Canada steamship lines, and was brought to this port.

The Emperor lost her rudder during a stiff Lake Superior gale about 100 miles east of Port Arthur. The Renvoyle immediately proceeded to the assistance of the 504-foot vessel and the tug Whalen was dispatched from here.

CALLED "SCABS"

Honolulu, Nov. 26. — Non-union stevedores began unloading two American flag liners here yesterday while maritime strikers called them "scabs," but offered no interference.

The steedores took from holds of the strike-bound vessels President Pierce and President Hayes cattle and poultry feed consigned to local dairies, and preserved foods from the Orient.

Strikers indicated they were powerless to oppose the work of non-union stevedores because of a territorial anti-picketing law.

The Japanese ship Taiyo Maru arrived yesterday with a cargo which included 135 tons of rice, a commodity which had been nearly exhausted here, and also tons of beans, canned foods, starch, flour and fresh eggs.

Secret Protocol To Zone Pacific

London Paper Claims Germany and Japan Have Plans Under New Pact

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 26.—A secret protocol partitioning the Pacific into zones of influence is annexed to the anti-Communist pact signed in Berlin yesterday by Germany and Japan, according to The London Evening Standard.

The paper's report of a secret protocol is not given much credence in diplomatic circles, however.

On the basis of "authoritative information," the newspaper's diplomatic editor asserted the two countries have drawn an imaginary line through the Pacific to designate their respective zones of influence. Under the reported arrangement, the Dutch East Indies fall within Tokio's jurisdiction, with Germany exerting sway over its former Pacific colonies mandated to Japan by the League of Nations.

The Evening Standard asserted Germany had renounced all privileges in the Marianes, Caroline and Marshall islands, as well as all other territories lying northeast of the line, running through the Java, Sunda, Banda and Arafura seas.

This line separates the Dutch islands of Sumatra, Java and Timor from Borneo, Celebes and the Philippines. Under the protocol, Japan's economic prerogatives would be recognized in Borneo and the Celebes, with Sumatra and Java falling within the German zone of influence.

SCHACHT HAS PLANS

The newspaper said the open door policy practised by The Netherlands in the East Indies allows a maximum amount of foreign penetration. In pursuance of the secret protocol, the German economics minister, Hjalmar Schacht, was credited with already having complete plans whereby German business houses, operating from Amsterdam in accordance with Dutch law, would exploit the islands' rubber plantations.

Germany also intends to utilize these new zones of influence as bases for German colonization, it was said. According to the article, Nazi propaganda has already been active among the native populations to prepare them for the important role Germany intends to play there.

CHRISTMAS MAILS

Christmas mails for China and Japan should be posted at the local postoffice not later than 4 p.m., Friday, November 27. The mails will be carried by the Ss. Empress of Asia which ship is leaving a day ahead of the usual time.

If the maritime strike in the United States is not settled before December 5, the next China and Japan dispatch following November 27 will be per the Ss. Empress of Canada on December 12. It is therefore urged that all Christmas mail be posted not later than 4 p.m. on Friday of this week.

FOG PALL OVER BRITISH ISLES

Canadian Press from Havas

London, Nov. 26.—Heavy winter fog shrouding the British Isles caused a ship collision and hampered railway and other communications today.

The 495-ton steamship Davaar and the seventy-five-ton steamer Dalriada collided off Skelmorlie, in the Firth of Clyde, about thirty miles west of Glasgow.

LESS HOME WORK

London, Nov. 26 (Canadian Press.—The Board of Education intends to abolish week-end home work for school children, it was learned today. The decision follows an inquiry on which 300 boards of inspectors were engaged for several years. Evening home work also probably will be curtailed.

Why cracking occurs in apples, plums, peaches and some other fruits while still on the tree has been investigated by West Virginia scientists.
